LOMITA

ing plans included Tim McCormick, head of the Lomita Committee for Zoning; the Rev. Howard A. Rozine of the Lomita-Harbor City Methodist Church; Lewis Sims of the Lomita Pines Zoning Committee; Glenn Keith, Lomita Kiwanis Club; Leonard Loy, president of the Lomita Chamber of Commerce, and E. M. Mosher, publisher.

Keith said loan values on property in the community have been lowered because of the lack of zoning. Mosher said the absence of zoning has allowed "junk houses" to be moved into the area.

Objecting to all or part of the plan were George Sands, Lomita Property Owners and Registered Voters association; W. R. Pedigo, Lillian Cameron, R. G. Leland, Dessie Meyers, Jay Meyers, Ada Smith, Jack Rourke, George Williams and Helen Watkins.

"Seven out of eight persons in Lomita have something to sell at one time or another during the year," stated Sands in suggesting the "hobby" zoning.

"Ninety-five per cent of the folks in Lomita don't want any zoning at all, but we're tired of at a special election, especially a bond election of this nature. Percentage-wise this amounted to about 26 per cent of the registered voters who total 19,222.

City officials, members of the city government, employees of the city, campaign workers, and many civic-minded individuals were all smiles as the results came in from the various precincts.

Led Strongly

Both bond propositions led strongly from the beginning and by the time the first nine precincts were totaled there was little doubt that either bond would fail.

The new $700,000 civic center will consist of a spacious city hall and the most modern police station in California, it was disclosed.

The new $250,000 swimming pool has been edisigned so it could be covered if the need ever arose. Provisions for recreational centers have also been made.

going through all of these hearings," he said.

Final decision on the plans one for the area south of Pacific Coast highway, and the other for the area to the north is up to the County Board of Supervisors.

lian Assembly, said that candidates to be present include Robert H. (Bob) Finch, Republican candidate for Congress from the Seventeenth District; Robert E. McDavid, Republican candidate for State Board of Equalization from the Fourth District; Mildred Younger, Republican candidate for the State Senate, and John A. Willd, Republican candidate for the State Assembly from the Sixty-eighth. Other candidates for various state and national offices also have promised to be present or send representatives, Woolley said.

In addition to the Sixty-eighth District Republican Assembly, members of the following groups will participate, according to Woolley: Torrance Republican Club; Council of Republican Women of San Pedro; Wilmington Young Republican Club; Council of Republican Women of Wilmington; San Pedro Young Republicans and Lomita Republican Club.

Reservations

Woolley said that due to the limited size of the banquet room, reservations are being taken by his office, FA 8-2580; Mrs. Virginia Selover, FA 8-5489; Republican headquarters, FA 8-0402, and Mrs. Marie Holden, secretary of the Sixty-eighth District Republican Assembly, TE 2-2584.
