Savings And Loan Week To Be Observed By 3000

Los Angeles and adjoining communities will play host to more than 3,000 representatives of the financial world during the week of November 14-20. These people represent the savings and loan business of the city, state, and nation and their activities are responsible in a large degree for a 55 per cent ratio of home ownership over the whole country.

A savings and loan week has been declared in honor of their being here, and a mid-week radio network program will feature contributions to California's growth and progress by this industry.

Eldon Bowen is manager of Southwest Savings & Loan Association which is playing an important part in promoting thrift and home ownership in Torrance. Home loans amounting to over $18,000,000 illustrate the part his association has played in the growth and development of our Southern California properties.

Nation of Homeowners
These savings and loan people are working steadily to make America a nation of homeowners. Bowen states that almost four of every ten families now live in homes financed by these institutions if an average across the nation is taken.

There are nearly 100 independent offices in the business districts of the sprawling Southern California area. These modern, well equipped offices, like the one in Torrance, enhance the appearance of business houses and provide attractive employment opportunities.

DEAR EDITOR...

Coffee Stretcher

Editor, Torrance Press,
While visiting in Columbus, Ohio, recently, I read the enclosed article in their newspaper regarding a coffee stretcher. The product would seem worthy of further investigation particularly if it is available on the West Coast as stated.

If you can find out the trade name of the product and who distributes it, I am sure it would be of great interest to the housewives in this area who would be happy to have an opportunity to extend their coffee dollars.

Yours very truly,
MRS. J. J. McCUNE,
920 Hickory Avenue
(The following are excerpts from a newspaper article mentioned by Mrs. J. J. McCune and written by Robert Vincent. Do any of our readers know the name of the product for which Mrs. McCune is looking?)

"The state of Ohio may have found a way to cut its annual $1,000,000 coffee bill almost in half—by using a product the thrifty Dutch have been using for nearly a century!

"... A salesman... claimed that, if you mixed a round tablespoonful of his product with a pound of coffee, you then could use just half as much and no one could tell the difference.

"The particular product in use has a trade name which isn't of any consequence here, since it isn't for general store sale in Ohio although it is on the West Coast.

"For the technical minded, the product, which its label says has been used in Holland for 87 years, contain—caramelized starch—something like burned sugar would be—and calcium phosphate."

Painting Stucco

Answers to questions about Nalcrete

Q. What new development has revolutionized the painting of stucco homes?

A. "Dutch Boy's" amazing new polymer paint, Nalcrete.

Q. How does Nalcrete differ from ordinary paints when first applied?

A. Ordinary stucco paint often looks blotchy at first then "weathers" out to a uniform color. But Nalcrete gives a beautiful, uniform color the instant it is dry.

Q. What happens as Nalcrete "ages"?

A. Nalcrete holds its color without fading; washes sparkling clean in hard rains, leaves no dirty streaks. It defies sun, storm and fog, and, most important, it does not react with the alkali present in most masonry surfaces.

Q. Is Nalcrete available in colors as well as white?

A. Yes... in a wide range of colors from the "Dutch Boy" Color Gallery, plus easy intermixes.
