

Refineries Cited in Smog War

Invisible air pollution arising from oil refineries should be brought under control at the earliest possible date, Supervisor Kenneth Hahn declared this week as he asked for a report as to what rules are still necessary to control invisible as well as visible air pollution from refinery sources.

Supervisor Hahn said that he had been informed by top scientists in the field of air pollution that the refineries put as much, if not more, invisible pollution in the air as visible pollution.

"We've got to clean up all sources of pollution, whether they can be seen with the eye or not, if we are going to make any real progress in our fight against smog," Supervisor Hahn declared.

His motion calling for action against invisible air pollution arising from refineries, which was unanimously adopted by the board of supervisors, read as follows:

It is my understanding that there is as much invisible air pollution emanating from the refineries as there is visible pollution from this source. Therefore, I move that the Air Pollution Control Officer be directed to report to the board of supervisors what rules are necessary to control both invisible and visible air pollution from refinery sources.

A reception was held for Myron Floren at the Bettie Thomas Studio at 1215 Crenshaw Blvd. immediately after the show. Refreshments served included a giant sized cake which was baked by Jenkins Bakery in Lomita, whose son David, member of the Accordionettes designed the decoration on the cake, which con-

Military graveside services at Savtelle were conducted Tuesday for James G. Caldwell, 73, of 22120 Moneta, Torrance.

Caldwell, who was active locally in civic and veterans' affairs, died Thursday, April 7, at the Long Beach Veterans' hospital, following a short illness.

Caldwell was president of the Carson Civic Betterment Assn.; past commander of the J. Franklin Bell post of Spanish-American War Veterans; service officer and past commander of the Disabled American Veterans Post No. 92; veterans' counselor in Torrance for three years; member of the local draft board; and a member of the Masons and Scottish Rites in Indianapolis, Indiana.

A native of Harrisburgh, Ky., Caldwell had lived in this area since 1936. He retired from service with the U.S. Customs Service in 1946.

He is survived by his widow, Edna; sons, Rev. Father James G. Caldwell, Jr., pastor of Mt. Calvary Episcopal church, Los Angeles, and John H., of El Paso, Texas; two stepsons, Robert C. Morgan, Norwalk, California, and John K. Morgan, U.S. Navy; an adopted son, George Barham; daughter, Mrs. Sarah E. Bartlett of Los Angeles; and nine grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were handled by Mottell's mortuary of Long Beach.

A letter has been sent to the City Council asking for more police protection in the Pacific Hills area.

Science Fair, Open House Chamber To Plan Course Of Action

Concurrent with Public Schools Week, Narbonne high school will hold its second annual Science Fair in conjunction with an open house on Wednesday evening, April 27, in the school library.

Over 400 exhibits in the fields of chemistry, biology, and physical sciences will be featured at the Science Fair, with three trophies donated by the Harbor City-Lomita Lions Club slated to go to the top winners, as well as numerous first, second, and third prize ribbons for the other winners.

Earl Barnett, principal of the school, located at 25425 Walnut street, in Lomita, feels that the science display as well as the open house at the school present a splendid opportunity for adults to become better acquainted with the schools and what the students are accomplishing.

"Blueprint for Action," a plan for charting a course of action for the Torrance Chamber of Commerce, was given the go-ahead by the board of directors Monday.

The plan was recommended by Tom Watson, new manager of the Torrance Chamber.

"Blueprint for Action" calls for a series of meetings. Each member of the Chamber will have a chance to attend a meeting but each meeting will be held down to a small group.

The various groups will make suggestions regarding Chamber activities. An action committee will then screen the suggestions and make its recommendations to the board of directors. Committees will then be set up to work on the various projects, Watson pointed out.

Otsea Scores Hole-in-One

Arthur O. Otsea, vice-president in charge of the Torrance branch of the California Bank, scored a hole-in-one at the Wilshire Country club last Thursday.

The 175-yard feat was performed at the fourth hole where par is three.

Otsea played with William Maurer, vice-president of the California Bank, central office; George Cronk, Los Angeles insurance broker; and Joe De Franco, representative of W. F. McDonald co.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Worley, 4813 Mayor Dr., announce the birth of a son, Patrick Hunter, weighing 7 pounds and 11 1/2 ounces.

Appointed to discuss the matter of school sites with a committee from the Walteria Civic association were Gerald Alford, John Chiarenza, and Mrs. J. P. Jones, of the Pacific Hills Home Owners association.

ANTHONY'S ADVENTURES
Hey, I'll tell you a secret. The other day I watched Daddy and I learned how to make real good salad olives. See, you take these green olives Daddy sells from the barrel so cheap they're almost free and you hit them with a hammer and then throw them in a jar. Then you put in olive oil, a little wine vinegar, some fennel (fennel seed), chopped garlic and some good hot peppers—then just wait—let them age a little while like apple cider and—oh boy!
Maybe Daddy won't like me giving his secrets away. So if he spansks me for this, will you protect me, please?
I think the torpedo sandwich champions of Torrance are Lee and Paul Floren, who operate Franks Automatic Laundry—that's downtown next to McCown's Drug Store—They eat more Torpedos! Maybe that means the torpedo is good or maybe it means they're real hungry. Anyway, Paul was in yesterday and told me about this new rug washer he's got. Now he's giving two-day service on great big shag and cotton rugs. Maybe he gets hungry doing all this work. Maybe that's why he's my torpedo champion.
Next week I'll tell you about how Mommy makes her garlic and cheese spread. Would you like to know?
Daddy just got nasty with me—he says if I get commercial why can't it be for our place. I always do what my daddy says.
Come and visit our place.
