A visitor from another country was once asked what he found the most interesting in his visit to America, and he replied: "Their attitude toward food. I was amezed at the attention, concentration, and almost devotion that practically everyone placed upon his daily diet." Yes, today man places great stress upon his selection of physical food. But too often he neglects to devote any time or attention to the spiritual food needed to nurture his spiritual body, the reality of his being.

Religious Science teaches that a man's religion is not a "Sunday" thing; it is a way of life - to be lived daily and hourly. A man's religion should be a constant source of inspiration and strength. It should enable him to face and solve every problem he meets. It should help him to find himself; to unfold the divine potential of livingness and creativity inherent with him. It should enable and inspire him to glorify his God through his individualized expression of Life. If a man's religion does not do these things, then either his basic belief is incorrect, or he has interpreted that belief

In Religious Science we use the Science of Mind to teach the power of man's thoughts and feelings, and the almost miraculous demonstration of his spoken word, when spoken with great conviction. We teach the value of thought and emotion as tools, to be understood and used for creative, construc-

We believe that this seven-days-a-week religion should be a joyful experience, providing man with the opportunity to grow physically, emotionally, mentally, and spiritually. We believe that his religion should inspire man to desire to understand his fellowman, and thereby work with him in the true spirit of Brotherhood.

an infinite wisdom; wherein he is confident that his life is coupled with an Infinite Power that enables him to accomplish whatsoever he truly aspires to do. We believe that this is the meaning of the statement, "With God, All Things Are Possible."

We teach a technique of prayer that will enable an individual to have a direct hand in the shaping of his own destiny and as he correctly alligns himself with this invisible, Infinite Power, spoken of before, he can bring into his life the abundance, the happiness, and joyous expression that he so much desires. We have named this echnique of prayer "Treatment" and we have named the result or effect of this technique "Demonstration."

We believe the true church to be a spiritual ideal, and that the purpose of the physical church is to teach and aid mankind in his evolution and expansion of consciousness, his growth in spiritual awareness.

"The church is the spiritual home of the member. It is our aim that at all times its atmosphere be one of warmth, friendliness and Brotherhood. Constant effort is made to conduct its services formally enough to inspire respect and reverence within the heart, yet informally enough that no feeling of sincerity or responsiveness
