District Hospital Move Blocked Temporarily

Executives of more than 20 leading industries in the Torrance area have indicated that their companies will give financial support to the $776,000 Little Company of Mary hospital campaign in order to assure adequate tax-free hospital facilities here.

Action of representatives of these firms who promised immediate consideration of gifts for the new 125-bed Catholic hospital, to be located on Torrance blvd., near the intersection of Hawthorne ave., was taken at a meeting Thursday of the combined campaign executive and industry committees.

The factor of urgency was injected by industry men who had attended on Wednesday a meeting of the Los Angeles County Boundary commission which temporarily rejected proposed boundaries for a Torrance hospital district.

Technicality

The commission action was based on the technicality that the EF Nido area, which recently has voted annexation to the city of Torrance, was not included in the proposed district, and because of this the commission could not recommend approval of the proposed district area.

The county body, in voting to reject the proposed boundaries, stated that proponents of the district would be advised that the commission will reconsider the proposal upon submission of a new application including the El Nido area.

Highlight of the Thursday meeting was a statement by Robert I. Plomert, Jr., manager of the Property Tax department of General Petroleum corp., urging all industries within the area to commit their financial support for the voluntary hospital at the earliest possible date.

All Must Help

"Our company endorses this project and will definitely do its fair share," Plomert told the group, "but one company alone cannot accomplish the objective. All industries must participate in this campaign if we are to defeat permanently the tax threat of a district hospital. I urge that all locally-owned industries make their gift decisions at once, and I suggest that representatives of Torrance industries having home offices elsewhere make immediate recommendation to home offices to support this voluntary hospital."

In a request for reports from individual companies from industry committee chairman Gerald L. Revell, there was not one negative response.

All executives present said their companies will give in accordance with the adopted industry formula of 23 per cent of the initial project cost, or will make recommendations to home offices that gifts in accordance with this formula be given immediately and favorable consideration.

Companies Represented

Included among companies represented at the meeting were Pacific Electric Railway, Chicago Bridge and Iron, Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Dow Chemical, American Standard and Radiator, Greene's Ready-Mix Concrete, Standard Oil of California, Chanslor-Western Oil, Mayfair Columbia-Geneva Steel, Longren Aircraft, California Bank, Torrance Herald, Orange County Land Development co., Ernest W. Hahn Inc., and Cal Metal corp.
