

ARTISTS EXHIBIT ENAMELS

An exhibit of enamels by Ella Marie and Jackson Woolley is being shown by Curt Wagner, 1729 Catalina ave., Hollywood Riviera. The enamels will be on display through July 27.

The Woolleys, who live in San Diego have won prizes in national shows all over the country. Several of the largest museums have purchased pieces to display and their murals appear in public buildings in Nevada, Oregon and Texas.

Mrs. Woolley is a graduate of San Diego State college and Los Angeles Art Center, while Woolley is a graduate of Carnegie Tech. Both became interested in the work they are famous for while attending art classes at Claremont Graduate school.

As "California Artists, No. 2," the Woolleys appeared in the Los Angeles Times Home Magazine of June 9, which featured photographs of the work they have done. Readers of this area who were interested in the article when it appeared, are welcome to view the exhibit, an opportunity usually restricted to museum showgirls.

'Light Up The Sky'

Accent Theater's summer season opened with the charming and delightful comedy "Light Up the Sky" by Moss Hart, last Thursday evening.

It will be presented each Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings for your enjoyment through August 3. The direction is under Charles Gray, well known in this area for his stellar casting of "Stalag 17".

Starring in the role of Irene Livingston, the Broadway star, is Julie O'Neil. Starring in other leading roles are Patricia Gray as Frances Black, and Malcolm Sagenkahn as Sidney Black. Others in the cast are Charles Brannen, Curt Mobley, Lee Oberholtzer, Beverly Dyer, Robert Kelsey, Warren Lavendar, George Spelvin, Warren Dieter, and Paul Harestad.

The Accent Theater is at the corner of Cabrillo and El Prado. Curtain time is 8:30 and refreshments will be served between acts.

'RAINMAKER' HELD OVER

Hampton Players' horseshoe theatre couldn't accommodate the overflow last Saturday night, and so for the benefit of those who were disappointed, the show is being held over for one final week-end, Friday and Saturday nights, July 19 and 20, at 129 Pacific ave., Redondo Beach.

The truly excellent cast, directed by Thelma Ledwidge, includes Jack Drake of Torrance, Anne Sutton and Jim Lake of Gardena, Duane Ryan of Hawthorne, Jim Black and Charles Slater of Manhattan Beach, and Denton Wable of Redondo Beach.

The group announces that readings for their next show, "All My Sons," will be held at the theatre on July 23 and 24 at 8 p.m. There are six male and five female parts to be cast in this fine drama by Arthur Miller.

Novice Dog Training Classes

Marty Lehr, trainer of dog obedience classes announces the preparation of a new novice dog "junior" training class, which she plans to conduct beginning Saturday, July 20, from 4:30 to 4:30 p.m. beside the Torrance Municipal plunge, 3031 Torrance blvd.

Proceeds from entry fees will go to the Torrance Area Youth band to aid in financing the trip to Chicago in December for the Midwest National Band clinic.

Any children or teenagers capable of learning to handle dogs may enter.

Exercises included in the instructions are heel on leash, figure eight, standing for examination, heeling free, recall, long sit and long down.

For further information regarding entry blanks call Mrs. Marty Lehr at FA 8-8461.

Don't Be Half Safe About GI Insurance

A veteran who recently died following an accident would have been dismayed to know that his $10,000 National Service Life Insurance didn't go to his wife and children at all. He thought his beneficiary designation was up to date but it wasn't.

"He showed us as beneficiaries in his will," said his widow. "Now they tell me he should have notified the Veterans Administration—the will can't change a beneficiary designation on file with the VA."

Mrs. Sara Evans, director, Torrance Area Veterans Service Center, cites this as a typical example of what can go wrong with GI insurance policies. Here's another case:

A veteran, protected by "free indemnity" during his Korean service, changed his indemnity beneficiary by filling out a form his commanding officer gave him. He failed to consider that the indemnity was entirely different from his insurance policy, which he had placed on waiver for the duration of his enlistment. The insurance beneficiary never was changed, as far as the VA was concerned.

Complications also arise when a veteran has more than one insurance policy. The VA may receive a change of beneficiary listing only one policy number. Since the VA must assume that the veteran knows what he wants, the beneficiary change is recorded for the one policy only.

"The moral is simple," concludes Mrs. Evans, "don't be half sure about the status of your GI insurance. Check on it now. We will help you if you drop in at our office at 1622 Gramery ave., Torrance. A Com-

Lomita Job On Sidewalks To Be Resumed

Construction of three miles of sidewalk in Lomita, halted last autumn to allow a county survey of the area, was to be resumed this week.

So stated Louis Stainbach, chairman of a property owners group sponsoring the improvement.

Involved is the area between Pacific Coast hwy., Walnut ave., the north and west boundaries of Lomita.

Completion of the job is due by the end of summer.

STARLITE HOMES ON DISPLAY

Starlite Executive homes, corner Lincoln ave. and Border ave., are now open for inspection from noon until dark, according to Howard Percy, realtor.

The houses, built by Marloma Building corp., offer three distinctive floor plans.

Both FHA and conventional financing are available. A novel plan for newcomers from out of state who have a home for sale or trade may be worked out through a lease with option to buy. Arrangements may also be made by local individuals who have a home for trade.

A model house furnished by Van's Maple shop of Torrance is on display.

Fame Grows For Punchy

Look magazine will feature the odd story of Punch and Judy, wild mallard and his cement-statue sweetheart, according to Mrs. Kenneth Miller, owner of the ducks. The story is to appear in late July or early August.

Punch became famous after he landed at the Miller home, 2423 W. 233th st., about four months ago and hasn't moved since, having fallen hopelessly and helplessly in love with a concrete duck, which the Millers acquired in memory of their family pet, Judy, when she died.
