

Area Paycheck Power Drops

The average weekly pay check of a factory worker in the Los Angeles area bought less in September than at any time since March 1956, Ernest B. Webb, California Director of Industrial Relations, announced, this week. Webb pointed out that although cash earnings average higher in September than year ago, the gain was wiped out by increased living costs.

Gross earnings of a factory worker in the Los Angeles-Long Beach area averaged $92.68 per week in September. After allowing for tax deductions, the net take home pay was $82.79 per week for a worker with three dependents and $74.75 for a single worker. This was one per cent more than in September 1956.

According to the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, consumer prices increased by 3.6 per cent between September 1956 and 1957. The net effect was a loss of about two per cent in the amount of goods and services which the average factory worker could purchase this September as against a year ago.

Army Promotes Torrance Man

Wilbur H. Holland, 39, of Torrance currently serving as a guided missile platoon sergeant with the Torrance Battery NIKE Site, near Torrance, was promoted to master sergeant last week.

The unit with which he is assigned is a part of the 47th Antiaircraft Artillery Brigade which is responsible for the antiaircraft defense of the Los Angeles area through the utilization of NIKE Ajax guided missiles.
