NIKE INSPECTION: Capt. Daniel T. Mahoney, Commanding Officer of the U. S. Army Nike Installation in Torrance, explains the Nike to members of Longren's Management Club. During the tour, they witnessed a drill of the enlisted men bringing the Nikes into firing position under mock attack. All Longren personnel are scheduled to tour this installation to give the civilian workers who are engaged in defense production the opportunity to see the end result of their various aircraft skills. In turn, Longren has invited the officers and men of the Nike Installation to visit its fabrication and assembly plants in Torrance so that they can become acquainted with three miles north of The Dalles the beginning phases of Longren's defense projects, similar in on the Columbia River, will be nature to their Nike. Energization by the Boone ville Power Administration of the seven mile, 115,000 volt transmission line from the Big Eddy substation to the Harvey Aluminum reduction plant at The Dalles, Oregon, began Friday, it was announced by Lawrence A. Harvey, executive vicepresident.

Completion of transmission facilities to the Harvey plant enables BPA to deliver 120,000 kilowatts of power for the production of aluminum pig, ingot, and billet. Harvey's plant at The Dalles was designed and is being constructed by the company. When completed in early 1958, it will have an annual capacity of 54,000 tons.

"The new facilities will allow us to increase production one present plant inadequate."

In the past several weeks Mayflower has added 50 new employees, bringing the current total work force to 190. Johnson said additional staff increases would probably be required when the new buildings are completed.

Johnson attributed a good portion of Mayflower's rapid growth to the enthusiastic public reception of the firm's new provincial models.

The company manufactures the equality Mayflower line in 35, 40, 45, and 50-foot ten-wides: plus 30, 35 and 40-foot eightwides. Its low-priced Plymouth model is produced in 41 and 47 foot ten-wides and in 30, 35 and 40-foot eight-wides.

'In the past five years Mayflower has grown from the smallest trailer manufacturing concern on the Pacific coast to the position of leading western producer and one of the largest firms nationally.
