

To Present Musical Version Of Stage Hit, 'Junior Miss'

The new musical version of the Broadway hit, "Junior Miss," which CBS television will present as its December Friday Point Show of the Month, on Friday, December 20, at 6:30 p.m., is a 90-minute holiday romp.

Set in New York City during the Christmas season, "Junior Miss" chronicles the light-hearted misadventures of Judy Graves (Carol Lynley, and Judy's long-suffering family and friends: Harry, her father (Don Ameche); Grace, her mother (Joan Bennett); Lois, her other sister (Jill St. John); and Judy's most intimate chum, Puffy Adams (Susan Sydney).

Judy's mischievous doings begin one evening when she walks into the living room to find her father receiving an innocent peck on the cheek from Ellen Curtis (Diana Lynn), the daughter of his boss, J. B. Curtis (Paul Ford). The melodramatic Judy determines at once that this "affair" must be broken up! She introduces Ellen to her mother's brother, Willis Reynolds (David Wayne). The latter has just appeared at the Graves home after an absence of many years, and Judy decides, of course, that he must have been in prison.

Her father, meanwhile, has been counting on a big promotion to a partnership with his boss, J. B., but the latter angrily cancels the plans when he discovers that, thanks to Judy, his daughter is in love with a "jailbird."

Judy, however, goes merrily on her way as she prepares for her own first date. This involves her initiation to high heels and makeup and a carefully-schemed introduction to her first boy friend.

The 90 minutes of comedy and music are hilariously resolved in a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year for all.

Tour of New York City Is Set on TV

New York, New York! It's a wonderful town!

Those who have been to New York, or who always wanted to, have a treat in store next Sunday, December 15, at 5 p.m. when CBS television's "Seven Lively Arts" presents an hour-long excursion up, down and across fabulous Manhattan.

Based on E. B. White's famous salute, "Here Is New York," the program is the result of months of filming in no less than 127 sites on the island of Manhattan, and it's doubtful that anyone has ever been on such a tour as the "Seven Lively Arts" crew has readied.

A few of the highlights include a St. Patrick's Day parade, a sailing of the Queen Mary, an Italian street festival, a Goldman band concert in Central park. Viewers will take a trip on the south ferry; they'll ride up the East River drive and down the West Side highway; they'll visit Greenwich Village, Radio City, Wall Street, the United Nations buildings, the Bowery, the Forty-second street public library, the Grand Central Art gallery, Bellevue hospital; and, of course, Times square.

They'll roam in and out of side streets as well as sky-scrapers. They'll look inside a prefecturer's gym and a ballet class, ex-speakeasy and a book publishing house. They'll take a commuter's train and a row on Central park's lake. And especially they'll meet the people who make New York the biggest, busiest, most exciting city in the nation.

All of this has been woven into a fast-moving panorama, set to a specially composed score by Norman Delo Jojo, to recreate E. B. White's love letter to Manhattan, "Here Is New York."

Avoiding accidents after dark calls for twice the caution and half the speed.

Interpret Bible On TV Show

"Lip Service," a dramatic explanation of the conflict between two generations over the Holy Bible and its contents, will be presented on CBS Television's "Lamp Unto My Feet" on Sunday, December 15 at 10 a.m. Written by David Ebin, "Lip Service" concerns a pre-med college student who suddenly decides not to follow his father's footsteps by becoming a doctor. Their clash over the decision, which touches on interpreting the scriptures in the Bible, leads to a surprising chain of events and a new outlook on faith.

The special guest on the program will be Dr. Robert T. Taylor, Secretary of the American Bible Society. Dr. Taylor will discuss the play's meaning with Dr. Lyman Bryson, the program's moderator.
