Original costumes for this movie, filmed in MGM Camera 65 and color, and centered around the Civil War era, were designed and created by famed Walter Plunkett. woolens, cotton, shantung and linen were imported from every continent on the globe. Feathered fans were flown to the studio from Paris to be used in a southern plantation ball-room scene. All jewelry worn by the cast, 1016 pieces, was made or finished at the studio. So were 343 hats and 430 pairs of innerlined high-buttoned shoes. Southwest Savings and Loan extends an invitation to everyone to see
