

Street Opening Gives Area New Major Artery

Opening of Van Ness Ave. between 120th St. and El Segundo Blvd. will provide motorists of Torrance with another major south through artery and will assist in reducing traffic congestion in the southwest, Supervisor Kenneth Hahn announced this week.

Supervisor Hahn pointed out that improvements on this section eliminated the last bottleneck on Van Ness and that it now extends across his entire district, from Olympic Blvd. on the north to 190th St. on the south. Van Ness becomes Arlington Ave. at Redondo Beach Blvd. in the city of Torrance.

Torrance officials are now trying to open the link of Arlinkton between 190th St. and Del Amo Blvd., to provide another major traffic artery here.

Studio Opened By Violinists

Opening of a violin studio at 16503 Halldale Ave., Gardena, was announced this week by Professor Vlado Koltisch, an associate faculty member of the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music.

Koltisch recently observed the 30th anniversary of teaching in America after studying in Europe with such great violinists as Svecik, Marak, Marteau and Auer.

He says that many of his former pupils are already on the concert stage and in major symphony orchestras.

Children with exceptional talents will be given scholarships, he announced.
