Meter Cost Told

It will cost the city $3221 to convert the present one-hour limit parking meters to a two hour limit recently approved by the City Council.

The cost comprises the new signs and conversion work, City Manager George Stevens reported.

MILLINERY CLASS

Mrs. Pamela Grubb, for many years associated with America's leading hat designers, is conducting a millinery course on Tuesday afternoons under the auspices of the Torrance Evening High School. The class meets from 1 to 4 p.m. every Tuesday in the rear of the Civic Auditorium.

Colorful Program Planned for Konya Day Celebration

A program for Konya Day, which will officially launch the city to city relation with the Turkish municipality was approved by the sponsoring committee Monday. The celebration, which will include a visit by Turkish officials, will be staged here Feb. 28.

Among the visitors who will participate, are Madame Ismet Sanli, one of the founders of the United Nations, and Nejat Sonmez, Turkish information official.

The program includes a luncheon at the Palms Restaurant, a motorcade to the civic center, where a flag presentation and gift exchange will be held.

The Torrance Area Youth Band will play the Turkish National anthem while the Turkish
