'Moonlight' Ban May Force Pastor to Quit

At least one city employe will quit rather than give up his outside work if the new "moonlighting" order is enforced to the letter.

The employe is Ray H. Bynum, who has worked as city custodian for the past five years.

In a strict interpretation of the work ban which went into effect last Wednesday, he is also a "moonlighter."

His outside job?

Pulpit Work

On weekends and two evenings a week, he becomes Rev. Ray H. Bynum, pastor of Jesus Name United Pentecostal Church at 2303 Harriman Lane, Redondo Beach.

Bynum has been in evangelistic and ministerial work for the past 27 years, and founded the church of which he is pastor, on a part time basis, five years ago.

He said that he supports himself and his family on the salary he makes as a city hall custodian, and that the funds he receives from his congregation more or less pay for expenses of performing his ministerial duties.

Builds Church

During his pastorate, membership has risen from three to around 125 persons.

Bynum is aware of the "moonlighting" ban and said he is willing to abide by it, if necessary.

In his view, the choice is a simple one. He will give up his city job rather than step down from his pulpit work.

"I think any minister in the community would do the same. It's something you believe in," he said.

But he really doesn't see why the outside work ban should apply to him.

"I'd be attending the church services as a member, anyway, even if I weren't the pastor," he explained.

New Anti-Litter Law Submitted

Picnickers will have to haul their rubbish and garbage away under a new ordinance introduced by the City Council.

The law makes it illegal to dump trash and garbage on public property. If no receptacles are provided, people will have to remove the trash.

Violators could be jailed for six months or fined $500 under the ordinance.

Family Movie Night Feature of Local Church

Tomorrow night will be family movie night at Seaside Community United Church of Christ, 230 at Ocean Ave.

A full-length feature film of the trials of a smal ltown minister rstarrnig William Lundigan and Susan Hayward will be shown at 7:30 p.m.

Open to the public, tickets 60c for adults, 40c for children or $2 for the whole family may be purchased at the door.

Workers on Float Honored

An "Appreciation Night" for workers and contributors to Torrance's prize-winning entry in the Tournament of Roses Parade held in Pasadena on New Year's Day, will be held by the Torrance Chamber of Commerce April 17 at McMasters Park.

The brief program starting at 7:30 p.m. will feature a showing of the official parade films in color and sound. Raymond Dorn, President of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Association, will present the Torrance City Float Chairman, George A. Bradford, with a gold-framed picture with inscription signifying that the local entry received a First Place Award.

Chamber officals proudly point out that the top prize was captured in only the second try —the first entry resulting in a third place award. George Harris, Rose Parade official who was assigned Torrance's entry, will congratulate the local people who have gained much favorable recognition among parade officials due to the "grass roots" program of floral decorations by community volunteers.

Mrs. Margaret Clark, Chairman of the Decorations Committee, and her Co-Chairman, Mrs. Jeanne Gerald, will receive appreciation plaques for Bradford on behalf of the Chamber

Students Plan Play Festival

Nine Torrance High School students submitted manuscripts for the Original One Act Play Festival to be held in the Torrance High School Auditorium April 24 at 8 p.m.

The plays were read and judged by Rosemary DeCamp, TV and motion picture actress and Torrance resident, and Miss Marcy Larson, Torrance High School drama teacher. They selected three plays to be presented at the one-Act Play Festival. Two more well written manuscirpts were selected, one as an assembly program for the students and one for a PTA program. The five plays selected included Tony Carillo's serious drama, "Decisive Moments;" Lynn Keller's comedy, "Education of Rutherford Pygmalion," Walter Janoff's serious drama, "They Shall Rise;" Sally Mason's comedy, "Just Like Irving," and Earl Newsom's comedy, "The Endless Cycle."

The other plays submitted for consideration were written by Mike Mullen, Bill Miller, Lynda Gambol, and Rita Winfield.

Each author will cast and direct his own play. The faculty directors will be Miss Marcy Larson, Gerald Ronan, and Roger Axworthy.

This is the eighth year that Miss Rosemary DeCamp has sponsored the Original One-Act Play Festival at Torrance High School.

After the performance, Miss Rosemary DeCamp will lead a group of Hollywood celebrities in a critique to discuss the merits of the plays and of the actors and actresses.

North Hi Lights

By SHARON ANDREWS

The North High Choir, under the direction of George Zavisilan, presented a musical program at the meeting of the PTA, Tuesday, March 17. North's 80-member Choir presented a program of seven songs including the following: "O Bone Jesu," "Holy Lord God," "In Stilly Night," "My Heart Is Offered," "No Other Love," "Rain and the River," Now Is the Hour," and last but certainly not least—North's Alma Mater. The Choir members were wearing their newly acquired robes for the occasion.

The Fourth Annual Roman Banquet was held March 11, in the North High cafeteria. With a Procession, lead by Jim Laird, the Latin I and II students entered the room dressed in their traditional Latin robes. Mike Lasky acted as High Priest for the event There was much entertainment provided by the Latin students and also by some visitors. Latin students put on different plays, while visitor Joyce Baird sang 'Somewhere Over The Rainbow," another group sang "The Day the Rains Came Down," and another visitor, Sylvia Anderson, entertained the members with a ballet dance. Ken Golphene was the narrator for the event.

Vivian Curran, Commissioner of Group Control, announced that there will be an essay contest on "Why I Keep The Campus Clean." The winner will receive ten dollars as the prize and the four runner-ups will receive a free annual. This and many other suggestions will be used in the future for keeping North's campus clean.
