

Rites Conducted for Designer of Custom Woodwork

Services were conducted Tuesday for Jacob P. Hameetman, 68, of 2152 W. 255th St., Lomita, an industrial engineer and furniture designer, who died Friday in San Pedro Community Hospital.

He came to Los Angeles from Chicago, and established the Gillfillan Bros. woodworking plant and served as plant superintendent. Later he established his own woodworking plant, the Southern Cabinet Co., in Lomita where he produced custom furniture. During World War II, after he sold his business, he worked for the government as a business consultant.

He was a trustee for the Presbyterian Church in Lomita and served as Lomita-Harbor City Community Chest chairman in 1945.

Survivors are his widow, Mrs. J. P. Hameetman, a son Fred, a daughter, Flora, two sisters and a brother.

000. This is down $7,000,000 from the amount estimated by Torrance Unified School District.

He also believes that sales tax will not increase more than $200,000. He described this as "disappointing," and said "wishing won't give you more money, you have to be realistic."

Income from court fines and forfeitures were also described "very disappointing" by the city manager. But he conceded that alcoholic beverage revenue will rise because of more bars and store sales.

The husbands of both the women attended the convention and included a tour of San Francisco in the trip.

New Signals in Operation in Victoria Park

Recently completed traffic signals, which Supervisor Kenneth Hahn had installed for the protection of the Victoria Park area as well as the motoring public, have now been placed in operation on Victoria street at its intersections with Broadway and Main streets.

The new signals have also been officially approved and accepted by the Board of Supervisors.

Highway safety lighting, consisting of powerful mercury vapor street lights, were installed at the two intersections to provide maximum night time illumination.

'Beatnik' Robs Gas Station

An unkempt "beatnik" type robbed a service station attendant here of $3.38 Monday night. Burton Slaughter, attendant in the station at 23505 South Western Ave., handed over the change after the bandit engaged in much threatening chatter, police said.

The suspect, who had a two-day stubble of beard on his face, partially concealed by a filthy baseball cap, accosted Slaughter just at closing time and asked for a map.

Producing a .38 caliber revolver, he told the victim: "Don't pull any burglar alarm or I'll shoot you."

After further threats if he called the police, the robber finally left with the limited loot.
