

Science Building Phase at El Camino Expanded Here

Completion of the second units of the Chemistry Building and the Physics Building at El Camino College in time for the fall semester will allow these departments sufficient instructional facilities for the first time in several years, William T. Mooney Jr., assistant director of instruction, announced today.

The new units will add three laboratories and four lecture-demonstration class rooms to the chemistry department facilities. The physics department will have two additional lecture laboratory rooms available.

In addition to the instructional first units of the permanent classrooms, offices and preparation facilities in February, 1957. Prior rooms have been provided for as to this time the chemistry department many as twenty chemistry instructors and fourteen physics instructors. Additional supply room demonstration preparation, and stockroom areas are also included for the two instructional areas.

The department moved into the temporary wooden buildings and the physics department shared the Life Science Building with the biological and life sciences.

The addition will add approximately 22,425 square feet to the present 22,425 square feet available to the departments of the division of physical sciences. This second unit completes the planned permanent facilities for the division of physical sciences of the college.
