Supervisor Chace Protests Proposal for Eliminating Grading of Lamb

Supervisor Burton W. Chace today sent a wire to Washington protesting the proposal to eliminate Federal grading of lamb and mutton carcasses.

In a strongly worded telegram to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, Chace warned this could be "the forerunner of a wedge to curtail or eliminate entirely additional significant grading services of the Department of Agriculture."

Chace, chairman of the Purchasing and Stores Department, said this move is not only a threat to the County of Los Angeles but every housewife in the nation who will have no way of knowing the quality of meat she purchases at the neighborhood market.

"Los Angeles County purchases of meat for hospitals and institutions exceed one million dollars per year," Chace declared. "We depend on Federal grading services to safeguard the quality of meat supplied on our purchases."

"The elimination of Federal grading will simply mean that the County must make other arrangements at increased costs in order to insure the quality of the meats which we purchase."

Chace further scored the U.S. Agriculture Department for its action which he said will "increase the possibility that over a period of time the American housewife will not only have no way of knowing the grade of meat she buys but will also lower the general quality of all agriculture products."

"This is obviously another case of being pennywise and dollars foolish," he continued. "I have always been for economy but in this instance I don't feel this economy, if such it is, is justified."

"The American housewife has the right to expect that the meats she buys at the market will be graded for her protection. It has been traditional for the U.S. Department of Agriculture to provide this service and it is imperative for all of us that this service be continued uninterrupted."

Pointing out that the Agriculture Department has announced that Federal grading of lamb and mutton will cease tomorrow, Chace noted "there isn't much time but I feel if everyone opposed to this would write to Mr. Benson, we may be able to rescind this order. Certainly, we should expect a delay, at least, until the American people have had the opportunity to express themselves more fully."

Letters

DIABETES GROUP TO THE EDITOR

THE PRESS:

I am interested in contacting diabetics in the Harbor-South Bay area with the idea in mind of forming a group similar to the A.A.S. in order to meet and discuss our mutual problems, to invite speakers, such as doctors, dietitians, and representatives of the Diabetes Association.

This has been very successful in Seattle and a few Eastern cities, I've heard. Although I am principally interested in this area, I would welcome letters from other districts . . . to assist them in forming their own groups.

Diabetes can be very dangerous. Each year, many people commit "dietary suicide" though lack of information or the general lassitude that usually accompanies the condition.

It would be the purpose of this group to help each other help themselves and to further understanding in homes and families.

Will you publish this letter with my name, address, and telephone number? I will be very grateful. — Mary Juanita Hansen, 539 E. 224th St., Wilmington, California, TE 4-2135.

To the Editor:

May I thank you for the tremendous support you and your newspaper gave to the Community Chest campaign in your area. Thousands of volunteers in the towns and cities covered by your paper appreciate your helpfulness.

The campaign this year succeeded in raising the largest amount ever secured for the 165 Community Chest health and welfare services, and thus took one more forward step in raising more adequate funds for these vital services. The leadership and good citizenship of your paper helped to make this achievement possible.

With all good Holiday wishes to you and your staff. — Edward Mills, Chairman, 1959-60 Community Chest Campaign.

Teenagers Topic at Stephen White

"Understanding Our Teenagers" will continue to be the theme of the Stephen M. White Junior High PTA meetings this year.

Dr. Margaret Wright, school physician and social adjustment specialist, will address the first meeting of the year Wednesday, 7 p.m., in the school auditorium.

Dr. Wright's topic will be "The Need for Health."

On Jan. 18 the group will hear Dr. Waldo Dunbar, clinical psychologist and extension teacher at UCLA, discuss "The Need for Mental Health."

Other topics to be discussed at upcoming seminars are "The Need for Parental Understanding," with Dr. Geraldine Dickinson as guest lecturer; "The Need for Family Cooperation," by Vera Strickland, coordinator of special training at Compton Union High School; "The Need for Planning with the School," by Rowland Mings, school counselor; and "The Need for Community Protection and Guidance," by Edna Hagerty of the Torrance Probation Department.

Beatrice Woodbridge, adult education teacher at Banning High School, will be moderator of the forums.

Adoption Report Filed by County

Permanent homes for 1,028 boys and girls were reported in the Los Angeles area in 1959 by three of the city's top adoption agencies, Los Angeles County Bureau of Adoptions, the Children's Home Society of California, and the Holy Family Adoption Service.

This disclosure made yesterday by Walter Heath, director of the County Bureau.

The annual report featured marked increase in the placement of minority group children. Of the 1,028 total, 303 minority group youngsters were adopted into permanent homes of their own, Heath said.

"The finding of parents for minority group children remains one of the biggest welfare problems in the city," Heath continued. "In our attempts to solve this problem, we are constantly asked if savings and home ownership are required to apply for adoption assistance. Nothing could be further from the truth. 'Rather than the financial status of prospective parents, we stress the need of desire for children in the home, and the love and attention which can be given a child,' Heath said.

Remarkable Results

Remarkable results are achieved with Press want ads. Take the case of Mrs. Gordon Northington, 1609 Beech Ave., Torrance.

Mrs. Northington advertised space for horses for rent with a two room house and half an acre attached. In short order, over 150 people called, all interested in renting.

Mrs. Northington expressed gratified amazement at the response.
