El Camino Math Instructor Tells World Tour Highlights

Clela Hammond, mathematics instructor at El Camino College, recently completed a world tour highlighted by a meeting with President Eisenhower's good-will party, a reunion with an El Camino teacher in India, and a dog-sled ride in Alaska.

Miss Hammond, who has taught at El Camino since it was founded in 1947, took a sabbatical tour in 1956 to Adelaide, Australia, where she taught at Unley High School five months. As a result, she was invited to address the Second Schoolmaster's Conference held in Adelaide last December.

Miss Hammond took a six-week leave and flew to Australia by way of Honolulu, the Fiji Islands, and New Zealand. She also attended a conference at the University of West Australia in Perth for two days.

On Dec. 11, she boarded a plane to New Delhi, India, where she met the President's party. She related, "That was the day they awarded the honorary doctor-of-laws degree to the President at the University of Delhi. I was able to use my University of California library card as a gate pass."

Miss Hammond said the American and Indian governments had the tour well planned, and everything went smoothly.

From New Delhi, she went to Bangkok, where she spent four days visiting Dzida, a former shop instructor at El Camino, and his family. Dzida is on a two-year loan from ECC, by arrangement with the United Nations, to instruct shop teachers in their high schools.

Homeward bound, Miss Hammond stopped at Fairbanks, Alaska, where she was reunited with a former student who is in the Air Force.

"He arranged a dog-sled ride," she said, "and they dressed me up in all the Eskimo paraphernalia. It was an experience I'll never forget."

Although the sun rises at 11:30 a.m. and goes down two hours later in Alaska, Miss Hammond paid a daylight visit to the University of Fairbanks.
