

Torrance High Senior Wins in El Camino Press Contest

Jim Pritchard, Torrance High School senior, was judged first-place winner in the feature division of the seventh annual Press Day at El Camino College.

The event was arranged by W. A. Smith, coordinator of public relations.

Other winners were Steve Emmons, Mira Costa High School; Judy Wooden, El Segundo High School; editorials; and Gregg Peterson of Morningside High School, sports.

Trophies were presented to first-place winners. A permanent plaque, upon which names of all first-place winners will be inscribed, will remain in the college trophy case and list winners for a 10-year period.

Certificates were awarded to the schools of first-place winners, while personal certificates were given to winners in the second, third, and honorable-mention categories.

Second and third-prize winners were: Barbara Gaiennie of Aviation High School, Linda Reardon of Mira Costa High, features; Karen Druliner of Redondo and Norm Neuman of Morningside, news; Charles Moffitt of Serra High, and Toni Sheets of North High School, editorials; and Jim Peterson of Leuzinger High School and Richard Logan of Leuzinger, sports.

Representing 14 high schools, nearly 200 students and 13 advisers took part in the program which included speakers, a luncheon in the cafeteria, problem clinics, and tours of the campus.

Schools invited were Torrance, Redondo, El Segundo, Mira Costa, Gardena, Serra, Lutheran, North, South, Morningside, Inglewood, Leuzinger, George Washington, Aviation, Lennox, Lawndale, Bishop Montgomery, and Hawthorne high schools.

Five guest speakers addressed the group. They were Earl Thelissen of Look magazine, Al Bine of the Los Angeles Examiner, Darsie L. Darsie of the Los Angeles Herald-Express, Jim Peck of the Examiner, and John Grover, Mirror-News.

Judges were South Bay newspaper editors, including Earl F. Holbrook, editor of The Press. J. A. Grenier, college photographer, lead the faculty advisers in a discussion of problems in campus journalism.
