He Is Risen

And when the sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, had bought sweet spices, that they might come and anoint him. And very early in the morning the first day of the week, they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun. And they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre?

And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it. His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow: and for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay. And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him: lo, I have told you.

And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted. And he saith unto them, Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: he is risen; he is not here: behold the place where they laid him. But go your way, tell his disciples and Peter that he goeth before you into Galilee: there shall ye see him, as he said unto you. And they went out quickly, and fled from the sepulchre; for they trembled and were amazed: neither said they any thing to any man; for they were afraid.

And it came to pass, as they were much perplexed there-about, behold, two men stood by them in shining garments: and as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said unto them, Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen: remember how he spake unto you when he was yet in Galilee, saying, The Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again. And they remembered his words, and returned from the sepulchre, and told all these things unto the eleven, and to all the rest. It was Mary Magdalene, and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women that were with them, which told these things unto the apostles. . . . They have taken away the Lord out of the sepulchre, and we know not where they have laid him. And their words seemed to them as idle tales, and they believed them not.

Then arose Peter and that other disciple, and came to the sepulchre. So they ran both together: and the other disciple did outrun Peter, and came first to the sepulchre. And he stooping down, and looking in, saw the linen clothes lying; yet went he not in. Then cometh Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and seeth the linen clothes lie, and the napkin, that was about his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by itself. Then went in also that other disciple, which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw, and believed. For as yet they knew not the scripture, that he must rise again from the dead. Then the disciples went away again unto their own home.

But Mary stood without at the sepulchre weeping: and as she wept, she stooped down, and looked into the sepulchre, and seeth two angels in white sitting, the one at the head, and the other at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain. And they say unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She saith unto them, Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him. And when she had thus said, she turned herself back, and saw Jesus standing, and knew not that it was Jesus.

Jesus saith unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She, supposing him to be the gardener, saith unto him, Sir, if thou have borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away. Jesus saith unto her, Mary. She turned herself, and saith unto him, Rabboni; which is to say, Master. Jesus saith unto her, Touch me not; for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but go to my brethren, and say unto them, I ascend unto my Father, and your Father; and to my God, and your God.

Hoodlums Shoot Pedestrians; Police, Court to Get Tough

Recent gang activities involving dangerous weapons such as shotguns, revolvers, chains, switchblade knives, and other types today brought a warning from the police department and Judge Donald S. Armstrong of the Municipal Court.

Several arrests have been made for carrying concealed weapons. The guns have been confiscated by the court and ordered destroyed.

Armstrong passed sentences of 30 days in the county jail and placed those convicted on probation for two years.

The Torrance Police Department has great pride in the youth of the city, it was declared by Capt. John Maestri. They are proud of the fact that 99% of the youths are upstanding young people.

It is this very small minority that tends to cause the difficulties, he said. The only way that the police and courts can make the streets safe is through cooperation of parents.

Recently hoodlums are driving in their own cars, and for no apparent reason take shots at bystanders, no matter who they might be. Several have been seriously injured from these acts of violence.

Armstrong has set the policy in his court that stiff jail sentences, ranging up to six months, will be given to the violators from age 18.

The police department will enforce curfew rigidly. The curfew pertains to all juveniles below age 18.

Parents should realize Maestri said, that in making streets safe, occasionally a teen-ager may be picked up and taken to the station. Parents are notified to go to the station to pick him up.

In these situations, some of the good must suffer for the acts of the bad.

Any teen-ager who has legitimate business on the streets will not be troubled by the curfew law if they are accompanied by an adult or if they are on their way home from the show or a dance or any other type of amusement.

The law will be enforced when loiterers hang around street corners, drive-ins, and other places for no apparent reason.

"With the cooperation of the parents, the police department and the Court feel that we can make our city a more wholesome, healthier and safer place for our citizens to reside," said Maestri.

Armstrong also said entirely too many adults are being brought before him for shoplifting and that in the future his policy will be a straight jail sentence, with no fine involved.

It must be fully understood that if they are brought up on a second offense, the sentence will be prison, Armstrong said.

Tower Hours Remain

The City Council this week held over till July 1 a recommendation that the airport tower remain in operation two more hours daily.

Torrance Man Jailed for Crash Death

A Rolling Hills veterinarian was killed here Thursday night after his car was struck by three others.

Dr. William Andrew Drummond, 41, Spar Pl., was dead of head injuries on arrival at Harbor General Hospital after the accident on Pacific Coast Hwy. at the entrance to the airport.

Police jailed Lance D. Young, 25, of 22905 Walnut Ave., who they said struck Drummond's car from the rear.

Young was booked on suspicion of felonious drunk driving and manslaughter.

Witnesses said Young's car was traveling approximately 75 miles an hour when it hit the Drummond car, which was halted to make a left turn.

The impact hurled Drummond's car into the air and onto its side in the opposing lane of traffic, where it was struck by two other cars.

Their drivers, Edwin D. Yockey, 45, of Palos Verdes Estates, and Judy Lee Lineham, 19, of 844 Calle de Arboles, suffered minor injuries.

MAN OF ACTION—New Councilman George Vico uses two-way radio to keep up with his own job, gets round town at all times daily and can observe and be councilman at the same time. Vico will be sworn in Tuesday night. Yesterday he told The Press he wished to thank all residents who voted, for him or not.

Council Pays Tribute to A. H. Bartlett

Albert Bartlett, city clerk, was honored by the City Council this week for 38 years of "efficient and devoted service."

Bartlett has been elected to 10 consecutive terms.

Councilmen presented Bartlett a plaque commending him for playing a significant role in the city's development and for conducting his office with "efficiency, courtesy and great distinction."

Councilman Nicholas O. Dralle requested the resolution.

Bartlett has been out ill several weeks.

Charles Dunham Rites Conducted

Funeral services were conducted here yesterday for Charles Benjamin Dunham, who died this week at his home, 1441 Carson St.

A native of Massachusetts, he was born June 25, 1898, and was one of the organizers of Bert S. Crossland Post, American Legion here.

He operated an auto-parts business many years and was active in early civic plans of Torrance.

A veteran of World War I, he was post commander of the Legion in 1942-43 and was past commander of the West Coast division, United States Ambulance Service.

An active member of Torrance Masonic Lodge 447, he was affiliated with Royal Arch Masons, Melrose Chapter 140, Southern California Council 35, Golden West Commandery 43, Knights Templar and Al Malai-kah Temple, Los Angeles.

He leaves his wife, Else; three daughters, Marjorie Coons of Torrance, Joy Clark of North Hollywood and Ann Patterson of New Jersey; son, Charles P. of New Jersey; and one brother and sister in Massachusetts. Interment was in Roosevelt Cemetery.

Torrance Gas Station Robbed

Two men held up a gas station at 5331 Torrance Blvd. Friday night and took $80 from John Gillmartin, an attendant.

Gillmartin said the men were in their late teens. They indicated they had a gun but did not show one, he said.

Firm Not Guilty in Air Pollution

The Great Lakes Carbon Corp. of coke from a stockpile was an isolated incident.

Attorneys contended unusually high winds on the day of the citation nullified all known control measures.

Inside the Press

Nearly 2000 Torrance merchants, businessmen, civic officials, and subscribers turned out Thursday night for open house in The Press's new building, 3238 Sepulveda. For pictures and story, see Page 2-A.
