

Catalina Emerging as Nationally Known Vacation Resort for Families

The famous playground of movie stars and tycoons of a generation ago has blossomed again, due to the rapid expansion of outboard cruising and the magic island's re-discovery by boatmen. The old charm of Catalina, responsible for the hit tune "I Left My Love in Avalon," is still evident.

Daily steamship service to the famous island will start April 30, when the gleaming, white SS Catalina is commissioned again as the ship of happy memories. Passenger quarters have been redesigned, and the vessel has been completely redecorated. A chic new cocktail lounge, The Fanciful Room, has been installed on the after deck.

Use classified. Call DA 5-1515.

Norman Brown Sextet to Open at Marineland

Opening next week at the Marineland Restaurant in Palo Verde is the captivating comedy-musical group, the Norman Brown Sextet, who will be making their initial appearance in the dining establishment's Porpoise Room.

The full, rich-toned band, helmed by Norman Brown on drums, is noted for its musical vitality and big-scale arrangements. The show will present a sparkling format of instrumentation, vocal harmony, and light comedy. They will entertain at Marineland Restaurant through June 5. The Norman Brown Sextet comes to the Porpoise Room from successful engagements at the Riverside Hotel in Reno, the Hacienda and Tropicana in Las Vegas, and the Wagon Wheel at Lake Tahoe.

LITTLE INDIANS

Cast Doesn't Know Identity of Murderer

Thespian Troupe 1133 of Torrance High School has selected "Ten Little Indians," a suspense-filled mystery play by Agatha Christie, for presentation April 29 and 30 in the auditorium. The play centers around 10 persons invited and marooned on an island by an unknown host. On the mantle are 10 Indian figurines and as each figurine is broken, a guest is murdered, according to the rhyme of the "Ten Little Indians." Not even the cast knows the surprise ending of who the murderer is. Marcy Larson, director, removed the last pages of each play book to keep her cast alert throughout rehearsals. The cast will discover the identity of the murderer at the dress rehearsal. Members of the cast are Don Baker, Gary Blakley, Lynn Keller, Pat King, Charles Litaker, Carol Mathlin, Tim May, Bill Miller, Carol Porterfield, Noel Shire and Jim White.
