

Harbor College to Present 'Oedipus Rex' Next Week

The Harbor College Theater Arts Department will present William Butler Yeats' powerful and gripping prose version of Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex" at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in the Starboard Theater on the campus.

Tickets for the two performances are available at no charge in Room 501, Harbor College Campus Center.

Limited facilities make it necessary to admit the audience by ticket only, and seating will be arranged in the order of arrival. The presentation of "Oedipus Rex" will be an unusual theatrical event, with actors and chorus wearing masks of tragedy as the Greeks did in their great religious dramatic festivals in honor of Dionysus.

Heading the cast are three Harbor College students who are majoring in theater arts. Eugene Dynarski, who will appear in the role of Oedipus, has studied at the Horseshoe Stage and the Theater Studio, Hollywood.

Creon will be portrayed by Bill McIntyre, who has played leading roles at the Community Playhouse and the Off-Broadway Theater in Long Beach and made several highly successful local appearances as a folk singer.

Sue Hanson, appearing as Jocasta, has combined a career as wife and mother with college study and active membership in the Palos Verdes Players.

Other members of the cast include Joe Rojas, Jo Lesnik, Judy Levin, and Phil Ortiz. The chorus will be under the direction of Kathryn Clauset, LAHC instructor of music.

The production is under supervision of Reuben G. Plaskoff, director of the Harbor College Theater Arts Department.
