

Don't Judge the Jury Till You Try it, Says Torrance Mother

MRS. ROBERT GOGGINS

By Elizabeth Ann Goggins
Many of you probably recall the ring of the doorbell and a registered letter from the sheriff's office.

My first thought was "I've forgotten to pay a parking ticket." When I recovered from the shock and realized it was a summons for jury duty, I felt mixed emotions.

Feelings of: It will be impossible to serve—what will I do, with the children? Thoughts of the drive to Los Angeles are too much.

These and others raced through my mind.

The day I was to report for jury duty at the new Los Angeles Superior Courthouse, I was instructed in the letter to meet in a large courtroom on the fourth floor.

Here I was greeted by several hundred other veniremen and bailiffs handing out cafeteria passes, mileage cards, and information booklets.

I was so caught up with the excitement and an inspiring speech by the judge that I forgot all the reasons I was going to give to get out of serving.

The judge in his speech told us that it was a real privilege to serve as jurors, to be able to take part in the functioning of the law, and be exposed to experiences and people we otherwise would not have met.

These words especially seemed to stick in my mind throughout my six weeks service as a juror.

"It is a great privilege for you ladies and gentlemen to sit a short time as judges of the cases set before you and to render a fair and impartial verdict as you see fit."

With these words we were sworn in and sent to an assembly room on the second floor. Here your name is entered in a wheel and names are called as cases come up.

As I'm never fortunate enough to be called for prizes and drawings, I planned on sitting my whole six weeks. This I did not. During the time I was there, I served on four cases. The longest case

Williams and D. D. Zander.

The gifts each member brings to the club, time, talent, friendship, faith, loyalty and wisdom, were represented by six small candles encircling a larger candle representing the club.

As the neophytes were introduced they received tapers which they lighted from the center candle.

The ceremony concluded with the club pledge and the singing of "It Is Better to Light One Little Candle" by the choir, after which new Juniors received their club pins.

Halldale Head Fetes

Board Members at Lunch

Mrs. Judson Bowers, president of Halldale PTA, hosted 30 board members in a steak barbecue luncheon Wednesday in her patio.

At the business meeting, Amanda Wilhelm, principal, thanked members for their support during the year.

She also announced that Halldale will lose 200 children to the Van Deene school district because of the new boundary lines.

During the past year Halldale received a merit award for outstanding achievement in accident prevention and a certificate of merit from the Los Angeles Mayor, Norris Poulson, and Mrs. Valley Knudsen, chairman of Los Angeles-Beautiful Committee.

It was announced that three Halldale teachers will teach in Europe next year. Miss Marion Smith will be in France; Miss Helen Cipriotti will be in Germany, and Frank Smouse will be a principal in England.

Gabriel Cortina, playground supervisor, and his assistant, Miss Susan Horn, have announced the summer playground program at Halldale, June 20 through Aug. 19.

Crafts, story telling, folk dancing and movies will be offered from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. daily.

Weekly themes will be Summer Fun; What Is Your Hobby? July 4th; Hawaiian Holiday; Big Top; Fun Week; Home Decorations; Wild Frontier; and Back to School.
