County Doctors Offer Advice About Vacations

Many wonderful vacations turn into a nightmare when one of the children suddenly become ill or injured, so states the county Medical Association.

"The best insurance against illness striking the vacationing child is to make certain he is in tip-top condition at the outset. Before a vacation give him plenty of rest and good food, because the physical and emotional stresses of travel induce fatigue readily in the very young," the association said.

Vacationers can get off on the right foot by carrying seasick pills in their automobile's first aid kit.

The family doctor will be happy to give advice about special precautions to be taken in certain areas in the preparation of a good first aid kit, as well as other remedies that might be of help to make a vacation more pleasant.

Vacation accidents among children are frequently the result of parents relaxing their watchfulness of their children. Children bubble with curiosity when they are in unfamiliar surroundings. Because they do not have the caution that comes with age, they should be under careful supervision, the organization advised.

Children participating in activities such as swimming or boating should be accompanied by an adult who is adept in these sports, as trouble may arise unexpectedly, the association warned.

Excessive exposure to the sun can cause painful sunburn in children more rapidly than in adults. Insect bites may be minimized by long-sleeved shirts and long pants. If a child is bitten by a wasp or bee, make him lie down. Then remove the stinger, if it is present, and apply a paste of baking soda. Cold water applications will help if nothing else is available. Calamine lotion can relieve some of the itching, the CMA advised.

Poison oak and poison ivy present a continuous problem in vacation spots. Contact with them can cause an itching, swelling and a troublesome rash. The symptoms may be delayed from one to several days. If exposure is a known fact, washing clothes with a strong laundry soap or with gasoline would remove the poisonous oils. For the victim, cool starch baths, compresses or calamine lotion are helpful.

Immunization against lockjaw (tetanus) is a must before leaving on vacation. Small cuts and puncture wounds, as harmless as they may seem, can cause this very serious illness, the organization stated.

Harbor Student Appointed to Naval Academy

Eric Lohmann, Harbor College freshman, is one of 22 young men from the nation at large to receive a presidential appointment as midshipman, class of 1964, to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

He has received orders to report to Annapolis on July 5.

Lohmann, 19, is one of four children of Captain and Mrs. Eric A. Lohmann of 549 Paseo Lunado, Palos Verdes Estates.

He is a graduate of Falls Church High School, Falls Church, Virginia, and is a physics major at Harbor College.

Upon graduation from Annapolis he plans to request assignment to the Naval Aviation Cadet Program in Pensacola, Fla.

Farmers Urge Support of Water-Bond Act

"Water development is essential for the continued growth of California's economy and we urge everyone to support the Water-Bond Act, Proposition 1, on the November ballot," said A. E. Swanson, president of the Agricultural Council of California.

The Council Board of Directors, at its annual meeting June 27, unanimously endorsed the Burns-Porter Water-Bond Act as a positive step in providing for our state's ultimate water needs.
