Channel Extras

Convention TV Features Stars

Although the three networks will dominate the Democratic Convention scene, independent television channels, 5, 9 and 13, promise some of the most colorful and comprehensive coverage. The picture looks like this: Channel 5's coverage will be tailored especially for Southern California viewers with Cleve Roberts as anchorman, assisted by Pat Michaels and George Lewin on the convention floor and Stan Chambers covering with a remote unit at the Biltmore Hotel.

Channel 9 will present a most "unconventional look at the convention" with comedian Mort Sahl assisted by producer David Susskind reviewing each day's proceedings. Such stars as Milton Berle, Steve Allen and Zsa Zsa Gabor have accepted the station's invitation to be interviewed by the Sahl-Susskind team.

All regular news and commentary programs on Channel 13 will be telecast from the Sports Arena convention site. Tom Duggan will air his program nightly at the Arena at 10:30 p.m. and certainly will inject some interesting and controversial material which viewers can look forward to hearing.

Although Channel 11 has planned no special coverage, regular newscasts will be focused on the convention every day.

State Awards Help to Counties, Cities

In the closing days of the 1959-60 fiscal year, California cities and counties received $28,718,938 from the State to help them meet year-end expenditure requirements, State Controller Alan Cranston reported today.

Cranston said the revenues, derived from motor vehicle license fees and collected by the State, are apportioned principally to local governments.
