OUTDOORS WITH MEL

BY MEL SALTZMAN

I just came back from a very enjoyable charter at San Diego and thought I would write about it. For all the fishermen that think that Albacore and yellows are the only fish that is worth catching this trip will appear dull but to me it was great. We chartered the Paularto II off Fishermens Landing and I will recommend this boat for any group of 10 to 12 fishermen. The main attraction at San Diego right now is the Albacore but it is a trip of 20 to 24 hours and we thought that we would rather try for Yellows and smaller game fish than chase the longfin.

We left the landing at 2:30, picked up mixed bait, sardines and anchovies and headed out. The boat has 10 bunks and we all hit the sack. About 5:00 we dropped anchor at the point of south island and started fishing. Soon the fish started hitting but they were bonito not yellows. We fished for about an hour and a half and then moved down the island and fished over the Ribbon Kelp. Again the bonito showed and some of the gang put on sinkers and tried bottom fishing. We landed some nice calico bass and some sheepshead and then as the boat swung around on the anchor there were four good hookups all at once. After a few minutes we gaffed the first of 11 big halibut which weighed from 12 to 20 pounds. I landed one which weighed 18 pounds dressed weight and in its mouth was a hook and leader which had been lost 15 minutes earlier by another member of the charter. Then we headed to north island to try for the late showing of yellows that sometimes occurs there. One of the guys on the charter was out on his first fishing trip and he had the usual trouble of following his fish, cranking against the drag on his spin outfit etc. and when we stopped at North Island naturally he hooked the only large yellow on the trip and after about 35 minutes he landed a 19 pounder.

Engineers Discover Way to Unlock Trapped Oil
Deep-penetration radar beams may soon help to unlock trapped oil reserves jellied in rock thousands of feet beneath the earth's surface, it was announced recently. Raytheon Company revealed today that it has under development an electronic oil well heater which may aid in the recovery of some of the vast oil reserves which cannot be brought to the surface by present methods. Blankinship Pitches Torrance 13-Year-Old All Stars to Win

Lou Akers drove in four runs and teammates Rick Morgan and Allen Williams collected three hits apiece to lead the Torrance Americans to a 14-5 win over South Torrance Pacific American in the opening round of 13-year-old Babe Ruth All-Star play.

Mike Blankinship hurled the win, fanning 10 while recording a three-hitter. Though he issued six walks, Blankinship was able to coast to victory as his mates came up with eight runs in the first two frames against South Torrance hurler, Tom Roberts.

Engineering Company Receives Army Contract
Coleman Engineering Company of Torrance recently attained a $197,230 contract from the Air Force Flight Test Center at Edwards for the construction of a parachute test vehicle.

Pitcher Jason Castillo got the lone base hit for the Torrance Nationals, who dropped a 2-0 decision to Westchester —themselves held to a pair of hits.

Fifty-nine Los Angeles area firms and/or individuals got $5,179,376.89 worth of $6-276,163.30 in contracts awarded last month to 83 in the state for the myriad research, supply and service needs of the Center.

Little League All Stars Meet Harbor City 9

By John Whitacre
Torrance National little league all-star team, opens annual competition Saturday, when it travels to Harbor City to meet the defending district champions. Game time 1 p.m.

Last year the Nationals blasted Lomita 28-0 in first round play, but then lost to Harbor 1-0, and will be out to revenge that loss this Saturday.

Manager Sam Snyder has indicated that he will start 11-year-old Fred Kindell on the mound. Kippell had a 6-3 record on the season with the Optimist Cubs.

Other probable starters are, Lou Maynard, Cardinal catcher, Sam Intermill at first base, Gary Fulton returning from last year's squad at second, and rounding out the infield will be Jim Hartley at short, and Jim Malone on third.

Expected to start in the outer gardens, will be Richard Thompson in left, with Larry Snyder and Gene Cusson of the league champion Dandoy Glass Yankees, in center and right.

Modifieds Duel at Ascot Oval Sunday Night

The popular Modified-Sportsman type cars return for a one-time racing program at the New Ascot Stadium this Sunday night when over fifty of the speedy race wagons will be on hand for a nine event racing show over the half-mile clay oval.

Marvin Porter of Lakewood winner of the last-main event, at the track a month ago, is the favorite in the rapid Danielson, T-Bird previously driven by the famous Parnelli Jones. Porter, the national NASCAR Short Track Champ, last year made his debut in these type cars, last month, and won his second time out.
