

ONE BIG FAMILY—The five boys in the Warren Cross family may make a good basketball team and the two girls good cheerleaders, but they create problems for the Torrance schools. Their educations will cost $2600, while school taxes paid by their father, an average homeowner, will be about $160. Here, tossing around the problem, are Sandra, 13;

Mrs. Cross; Ray, 13; Stewart, 5; School Superintendent J. H. Hull; Warren Jr., 17; Stephen, 8; Jim, 15; Mr. Cross; and Sharon, 10. Large families create financial problems, Hull says because taxes paid by the average homeowner do not pay the cost of even only child's education for a year."

PTA News

Serra High Gets Traveling Library

Serra High School has been selected as one of approximately 1600 secondary schools for participation in the Traveling High School Science Library during 1960-61. This experimental undertaking is administered by the American Association for the Advancement of Science at the request of the National Science Foundation and financed by an appropriation from the United States Congress. The purposes of the program are the following: to give the school librarian a year's experience with an up-to-date science collection of 200 books and thus stimulate the selection and acquisition of such books for the school's permanent collection; to develop the interest of high school students in reading such books; to stimulate the choice of a career in science by scientifically-apt students; and to afford science and mathematics teachers an opportunity for up-to-date collateral reading. Biographies, anthologies, histories of science, general works, books on specific scientific subjects are included in the collection. These are mostly adult books, that is, they were not written especially for young people. They were selected for the academically-talented senior high school student, those who represent tomorrow's scientific potential. The 200 books are divided into eight cases of 25 books each. Serra will receive two cases or 50 books at a time, and they will be available in the school library for a period of approximately two months. Bro. William Bolts, S.M., school librarian, is administering the program at Serra High School.

Madrona PTA invites you to attend the Nov. 10 meeting at the Madrona Street School cafeteria and enjoy another "Treasure Chest of Ideas and Ideals."

Theme of the meeting will be "Protecting Our Treasures." There will be a speaker from the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department who will give a talk regarding child molesters. There will be some booklets for distribution to all present. If you have children, then this is a "must" meeting for you. The Oct. "Treasure Chest" meeting "Treasure of Understanding" answered a lot of questions for everyone. The Principal of Madrona Street School, William Forrest, detected the questions to one of the following who made up the panel of experts: Paul Stone (4 & 5); Margie Sax (Spec. Training); Cecil Paschall (7); Maxine Jensen (1, 2, & 3); Mrs. Glen Morgan (Kindergarten & 1st); Carl Strong (8); Esther Salzburg (4, 5, & 6); Mrs. Harter (Speech); Mrs. Robert Hagenbaugh (PTA); and Mrs. Harris (Spec. Training). The October Carnival at the Madrona School provided everyone with a barrel of fun. The most popular booth on the whole midway was the "Hit Me" one, especially when Principal Forrest had his turn at sticking his head through the plastic sheet where he was hit with cold wet sponges. The kids went for this in a big way. Don't forget the big paper drive Nov. 14. If you have too many papers to carry to school yourself, please call FA 8-8080 extension 248 and a truck will come and pick up your papers. Let's make this paper drive the biggest one ever.

Colorful Display Board Shows Off School Work

With school days here again, the young artists in your family will be trooping home from the classroom with daily samples of their creative talent. And, you'll want to let your youngster know you appreciate his efforts by saving some of the really outstanding work. Question is, where do you put it? An inexpensive display board is a good answer. All you need do is to mount a piece of wallboard, cut to size by your lumber dealer, on the back of the door of his room or perhaps the door of your kitchen closet. This can be the permanent display board. To be kept up to date by replacing older drawings and paintings with new ones, per haps on a monthly basis. Add some color to the display board by trimming the outside edges with Marvalon adhesive coverings. Just measure to size, cut and remove the backing strip to expose the adhesive. Then, smooth it on. This same covering material can be used to cut out the letters of your youngster's name to press on the board for artist's identification. The display board will give your youngster a sense of accomplishment and at the same time keep his work off table tops and out of dresser drawers.

Fall Forum Series Ends This Evening

"Are We Ready for Integrated Housing?" is the provocative question that will be asked a panel of experts Sunday evening when the Social Action Committees of the Pacific Unitarian Church of Torrance and the Manhattan Community Church conclude their three Fall Forum Series. The program, open to the public, will be held at the Manhattan Church, 303 Peck Avenue. It is scheduled for 8 p.m. On hand to discuss the controversial issue will be George Thomas executive secretary of the Southern California Community Relations Conference and a state inheritance tax assessor; Robert Steele, realtor-appraiser for the Shattuck Company and a Manhattan Beach resident; Jack Lytel, Inglewood realtor; and Allen Neiman, Los Angeles attorney and an Inglewood resident. The discussion will be moderated by Richard Anderson, a school teacher who makes his home in Manhattan. Special guests of the two groups co-sponsoring the program will be realtors of the South Bay area. There will be an admission charge of one dollar, with tickets being available at the door. Further information regarding the program may be had by calling Frontier 4-4174 or Fairfax 8-4219.

Special Assembly Held for Class Planning Session

More than 2400 pupils at Stephen M. White Junior High School have already started planning for next semester's classes. A special assembly is being provided on Tuesday, Nov. 1, from 1:30 to 2:15 p.m. for pupils and parents at which subject offerings for the next school term will be explained. Since pupils, with the help of their parents, participate in choosing many of the subjects they will take in junior and senior high school, it is important that they understand what subjects are offered and what requirements must be met. Parents who attend this assembly will also hear the explanation and have an opportunity to ask questions. Counselors will be on hand to discuss with parents, the programs for their children. Albert Cartwright, the school principal, extends a
