Camino College
Science Teacher
Gathers Honors

Honors follow Julius S. Miller like eager bargain-hunters follow month-end sales.

Since joining the El Camino College faculty as an instructor in science in 1953, Miller has gained recognition as a lecturer, television personality and inventor.

Miller's television show, "Why is it so?" and "Great moments of Science" have been seen from coast to coast. The instructor has appeared before the nation's leading scientific groups. On Thursday evening he fought the duel of words with Groucho Marx.

"But," says Miller, "the greatest honor of my career came when Edward Teller invited me to be his guest lecturer Saturday."

Miller and Teller teach similar courses in physics.

FORMERLY WITH SPENCER'S RUG CLEANERS FOR 4 YEARS

SPONGE RUBBER FATIGUE MAT

Takes the weight off your feet and puts it on all those tiny rubber bubbles. In blue, red, green, gray, 17 by 29 inches. Use one by the sink to ease dish-washing chores or by the back door to keep muddy feet from tracking up your clean floor. Makes a useful kneeling pad for gardening or floor-scrubbing, too.
