Red Nichols at Marineland

Red Nichols and his Five Pennies, one of the most enduring musical institutions in American jazz, has returned to the Marineland Restaurant in Palos Verdes for another headline engagement in the dining establishment's "Porpoise Room."

The famous bandleader whose golden cornet is equally renowned, features a repertoire of brassy, punching tunes that titillate the nostalgia in young and old.

The musical idol of the 1920's, riding on a new success wave in today's entertainment world, has been signed by owner George M. Foster to appear nightly except Mondays through Dec. 4.

Nichols, a star of Capital Records, and his Dixieland band come to the "Porpoise Room" direct from a world tour and a recent engagement at New York's Round Table, where they set new attendance records at the smart night-club. One of his most popular albums was actually recorded in the Marineland Restaurant during the group's appearance here a year ago.

Artwork Shown

America's 19th century folk artist will be spotlighted in an exhibition selected from the Abby Aldrich Rockefeller Folk Art Collection in Williamsburg, Virginia, opening at the Los Angeles County Museum next week. On view from Wednesday, Oct. 19, through Nov. 27 will be 65 examples of the art produced in the early part of the 19th century by itinerant craftsmen and amateur "Sunday painters."
