Peace, Democracy in Latin America Aim of Woman's Club Through Care

In announcing plans for the Torrance Woman's Club's forthcoming international project on Wednesday, Dec. 21, Mrs. John Melville, international relations chairman, stated that education through community development has been adopted as a means to build foundations for peace and democracy in Latin America.

"This is part of a responsible, responsible citizenship for survival undertaken by the General Federation of Women's Clubs for 1960-62, through the organization of Care," said Mrs. Melville.

The most thoughtful long-range program in which we can participate is to help our neighbors help themselves. Problems are approached at the community level, achieving the greatest good for the greatest number.

"There are countless basic and critical needs in Latin America," commented Mrs. Melville, "many of which will be lessened by education through community development."

"To achieve this goal, the GFWC will send Care Self-Help tools and equipment to Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Mexico and Panama. Not only will we help present-day communities, but we will build for future generations."

The Club gift to Care will be augmented by each member bringing a new dollar bill for the money tree at the Club's annual Christmas party on Dec. 21. This aid brings with it an expression of hope for people who believe they have been neglected.
