Wonderland of Fashions Seen at Dianas' Affair

Last week a wonderland of Spring fashions was viewed "through the looking glass" by local residents at the Plush Horse restaurant where the Redondo Beach Dianas, California Federation of Women's Clubs Marina District, Junior Membership sponsored a fashion show.

Mrs. Milo Brunskill, president, reported that dessert was served and gifts were presented.

Coordinator and commentator of the fashion show was Alicia—The Madhatter. Modeling fashions from Plain and Fancy, Palos Verdes Estates were Mmes. Douglas Cambren, Richard Anderson, Christian Drake, William Hale, Cal Johnson and Miss Mary Cooper. Hat fashions and accessories were by the Madhatter of Redondo.

Co-chairmen for the affair were Mmes. Ted Kerwin and John Kenny with Mmes. Robert B. Breizler, Roger Gardemann, Sheldon Goldenson, Reynolds Gorsuch, Ray Hendershot, and Charles Hillinger assisting.

Decorations of mirrors, roses and candles for table decorations and a large mirror that framed the runway approach to carry out the "looking glass" theme, are planned by Mrs. Robert Deebel.

Among the women who attended the gala affair were members of the Engineers' Wives Club of Standard Oil, El Segundo. Included in the group who enjoyed the elegant affair were Mmes. H. C. Ashley, H. K. Coble, E. G. Cope, R. J. Driver, Michael Dubay, and E. A. Evers.

A course in modeling instruction from the John Roberts Powers School of Models was won by Mrs. H. K. Coble. "My husband will just love this," she was heard to say.

Mrs. W. B. Floyd won 2 ticket booklets for Disneyland and Mrs. C. N. Hardin received a Western Airlines travel bag as a door prize.

LOVE AND TRUST

As a child, man must have lived with his parents encircled by their love and trust. In the early years it is education by the mother especially which is important, since ethical principles must be implanted in the child in the form of feeling.

—G. W. F. Hegel (1770-1831 German philosopher)

Betrothal Revealed

Lillian Hedgecock Weds Terry Denton

Miss Lillian Jane Hedgecock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lee Hedgecock, 1714 Arlington Ave., Torrance, became the bride of Terry C. Denton, February 26 at the First Christian Church of Torrance.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Van Denton, 1543 W. 214th St., are parents of the groom.

Before an altar decked with pink and white carnations, the Reverend James Babcock officiated at the nuptial exchange.

The bride chose an all lace gown fashioned with a full skirt ending in a chapel length train. The beautiful wedding gown was accented with a scalloped neckline and a clover design scattered over the bouffant skirt. A Juliet cap with a small tiara of sequins and seed pearls across the front caught her fingertip illusion veil.

When given in marriage by her father, Miss Hedgecock carried a bouquet of white orchids encircled by white carnations and stephanotis.

Mrs. Elizabeth Harlicker wore a lavender satin sheath fashioned with a tulip over skirt and carried pale pink carnations as the honor attendant.

Miss Cathleen Mortenson and Mrs. Bonnie James serving as bridesmaids wore pale lavender satin sheaths with tulip shaped overskirts and carried pale pink carnations to complete their costumes.

Joe Doss served as best man and ushers were James Hedgecock, Robert Denton and Michael James.

Kathy McCuiston wore a pale lavender taffeta dress and carried a white basket of pink carnations as flower girl.

Ring bearer was Casey Day.

Following a reception held at the church, the newly weds left for a honeymoon in Las Vegas and at Lake Arrowhead. Registering guests at the reception was Jane Allen.

The bride, a graduate of Torrance High School and El Camino College, is a cosmetologist and works with her mother at Florence's Beauty Shop.

Upon return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Denton will be at home at 2736 Arlington Ave., Torrance.

Vogue Sewing Contest Winners Told by Junior Woman's Club

Three winners were selected in the Vogue Contest held by the Torrance Junior Woman's Club, Marina District, C.F.W.C.

First place was captured by Mrs. W. H. Gardner, who wore a lilac silk linen sheath dress and matching jacket. Mrs. Charles Bennett drew second place with a three-piece sheer wool outfit in off-white consisting of a skirt, sleeveless blouse and jacket. Mrs. Ronald Forrestal garnered third place with a sheath dress and jacket made of novelty black and brown wool jersey, the bodice of the dress and jacket lapels in black wool jersey.

Eight members participated in this contest sponsored by Vogue to find an ideal costume for the typical clubwoman. The requirements were that each contestant use a Vogue pattern and construct the outfit entirely by herself, with no outside assistance. Their costumes were judged for sewing ability, suitability to the wearer and fashion rightness. Judges for the contest were Mrs. Ronald Stark, Mrs. H. R. Altermatt, and Mrs. Ernest Mizerak.

The first place outfit by Mrs. W. H. Gardner will go to be judged at the District level, and has a chance to go on to win the national prize of a trip to Europe.

Also participating were

Mmes. Edward D. Aiken, Jack C. Dean, Edward Felkel, J. A. Perry and Leonard Schulwitz.

Auxiliary President Is Busy Active Wife; Mother

Being the mother of five children and the wife of a busy pharmacist keeps Mrs. Lee Solomon busy and yet she has time to be the energetic president of the Women's Auxiliary to the South Bay Pharmaceutical Association.

A native of New York, Sylvia Solomon has lived in California for over 16 years. She is a member of the Alondra Park Golf Club; den mother for the cubs scouts; affiliated with the American Field Service Unit in Redondo; and a member of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Elks Club.

Mrs. Solomon is a member of the Red Cross Gallon Club and of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Husband Lee Solomon, a pharmacist, is a past president of the pharmaceutical association. He has been active in youth work and is now president of the Redondo Boy's Club. Solomon was the first baseball commissioner of the Youth Baseball Council of Redondo. He is a member of the public improvements committee and has been chairman of the recreation committee.

The Solomon family are active members of the Temple Menorah.

Before becoming president of the Auxiliary, Sylvia Solomon was secretary and a vice president. Under her leadership the Auxiliary has had an energetic year. Aim of the Auxiliary is to promote the betterment of pharmacy.

Highlight of the social side and the main fund raising event is the Shamrock Ball held this year on March 18 at the Fox Sills Country Club.

Proceeds from the Ball aid a scholarship fund set up by the group for students in the South Bay area who are attending the School of Pharmacy at USC and find that they need financial assistance to complete their course. At present two students are attending USC with the aid of the group.

Lee and Sylvia Solomon are proud of their children who include Gary, 18, a student at El Camino College; Dennis, 16, and Marc, 14 who are students at Redondo Union High School; Evan, 4, attends nursery school; and Jeri Lee, 2, is at home with mother.

Dennis Solomon is a semi-finalist with the American Field Service. He hopes to be an exchange student. Winners will be announced in the spring.

With a lively family and many active interests, the Lee Solomons are certainly a delightful addition to the community.
