Camino Thespians Give 'Juno and the Paycock'

Family strife, national disunity, shattering emotions—these were the heritage of the Irish in their struggle for independence in the early twentieth century.

From these elements Sean O'Casey fashioned "Juno and the Paycock," which opens July 7 in the Campus Theater of El Camino College. Presented as the theater's first summer production, the play deals with the Jack Boyle family of Dublin during the Irish rebellion.

Despite its grim setting, the play embodies the spirit of Irish humor which sometimes takes the form of satire, sometimes of broad and boisterous joking. O'Casey has combined the two to create a moving play full of contrasting emotions.

To direct the modern classic, El Camino drama instructor, Burnett Ferguson has acquired the services of Lucille Liberator, Miss Liberator, an El Camino graduate in 1958, has conducted several years of research of O'Casey's plays.

As her master's thesis project, Miss Liberator directed and supervised production of O'Casey's "Shadow of a Gunman" at the University of Southern California, where she is currently studying under a scholarship granted by the National Collegiate Players. She is also working on a documentary series for CBS television as production assistant.

Assisting the feminine dramatist in bringing O'Casey's characters to life is a cast experienced in playing a variety of roles.

STAR
Captain Jack Boyle, the shiftless, swaggering Paycock, is played by Fred West, whose credits include several leading roles with the South Bay Civic Light Opera Association and major roles in productions of the Hampton Players in Redondo Beach and Morgan Theater in Santa Monica. West also toured for eight months as Lennie in "Of Mice and Men" with the California State Society, a professional acting group.

Gloria Newhouse, as Juno Boyle, the wife who desperately tries to hold the family together for this role. She has sung leading roles in "Oklahoma," "Elixir of Love," "Das Rheingold," and "Carmen." Currently enrolled as a theater arts major, Miss Newhouse hopes to use this role as a step toward a career in musical comedy and light opera.

JOHNNY BOYLE
Johnny Boyle is played by Dennis M. Morgan, who will be remembered by many for his role as Romeo in the spring production of "Romeo and Juliet" at El Camino. Dennis has also played major roles in "Pygmalion" and "The Show Off" at Santa Ana College, plus several leads in plays at Inglewood High. He is currently collaborating on the writing of a musical comedy, the locale of which is Hades.

In the role of Mary Boyle is Kathleen Kosche, who won awards for her performance in "Inherit the Wind" and "Oklahoma" at El Camino to add laurels to those previously garnered at Mira Costa High School. Kathleen intends to continue her theater arts studies at USC.

Joxer Daly, Boyle's drinking companion, is played by Kip Jun. Kip is well known to South Bay audiences for roles he performed for Hampton Players, Palos Verdes Players, and Chapel Theater.

SUPPORTING CAST
The supporting cast includes Tommy Black, Jack Meeks, Nadine Nichol, Ron Murphy, Pete Devaney, Gary Bradbrook, Jim Boughton, Victor H. Matson III, Mike Tandy, Phil St. Pierre, and Celeste Crawford.

The set, designed by director Liberator, was built by the stage crew of Les Thomas. Lighting, also designed by the director, is under the supervision of Bert Ayers. James Wilson is sound technician. Responsible for costumes are Michele Smith and Gayle Wilkins. Celeste Crawford and Paul Wilkening are in charge of props.

EVILS' BROADCAST
All Radio Free Europe broadcasts are made by exiles from the captive countries of East Europe in order to give each program authentic flavor. A private network supported by the American people. RFE broadcasts to Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria.
