PRESENTATION of 16 cases of fruit juice and a record player is being awarded Mrs. Max Stern, co-founder of Gardena Valley School for the Mentally Retarded, by Max

Weinberg (left), president of North Gardena Kiwanis Club, and Cliff Hall, chairman of the boys and girls committee of Kiwanis.

Kiwanis Aid Association for Mentally Retarded Children

Through the philanthropic activities of the North Gardena Kiwanis Club, the Gardena Valley School for the Mentally Retarded was awarded 16 cases of fruit juice and a four-speed record player this week.

Attending Tuesday's meeting, Mrs. Max Stern received the donation in behalf of her organization. She is vice president of the Gardena Valley Association for Mentally Retarded Children.

Addressing the club, she explained how the association was started by herself and husband and other parents who asked, "Must I lose my child?"

Mrs. Stern explained that the association was organized for children who were not accepted by the public schools in their programs for the mentally retarded. She added that she and her husband saw the need for an organization for these children when they could not find a place in public schools for their nine year old daughter.

After the forming of the association, a building was donated for their use for two years and a teacher was hired. "We charge parents $30 per month, which is only enough to pay for a teacher," Mrs. Stern said.

"The school, now with 30 students, is in need of books, toys, teaching facilities, and many many other items which could help these children learn to be part of an accepted part of society," she concluded.

Information about the association can be obtained by calling Mrs. Stern at DA 4-6748.
