Noted Novelist Speaks To Manuscripters

Paul I. Wellman, noted novelist and historian, spoke on "The Novel" at a meeting of Southwest Manuscripters at Clark Stadium Friday.

Wellman, famous for such novels as "Ride the Red Earth," "Broncho Apache," "Jubal Troop," "Angels with Spurs," "The Bawl of Brass," "The Walls of Jericho," "The Chain," "The Iron Mistress," "The Comancheros," "The Female," and "Jericho's Daughters," has had seven of his books purchased by film studios.

Winner of the Commonwealth Award for his historical work, "Glory, God and Gold," Wellman has just finished "Dynasty of Western Outlaws," which traces the blood lines of famous western desperadoes.

Other of his historical works are "Death on the Prairie," "Death in the Desert," "The Trampling Herd," and "Gold in California." He is currently working on a historical book dealing with Andrew Jackson and Sam Houston.

Theater Moves To Community

September 8 at 8:30 p.m., the curtain will go up in the new Chapel Theater in Torrance. Don Gish and Steve Sands are bringing back "The Madwoman of Chaillot," on which they first collaborated for the Manhattan Players in the old Redondo Beach High School Auditorium, with Gish as director and Sands as set designer.

From this beginning arose the need for a permanent showcase, which turned out to be a two-car garage.

The audience grew, so expansion was necessary. Hal Lepper and his son Pete threw their construction talents into adding an auditorium. The entire first theater became the stage, and the seating capacity was doubled.

Staging was easier, but there were still problems. Often times the leading lady, in her glamorous costume, had to drag through mist, rain or mud to make her grand entrance. Dressing rooms were crowded; props, sets and costumes had to be stored in odd places.

Chapel now has a new home, located at 4164 Pacific Coast Highway, in the Smith Bros. Fish Shanty development and are, three blocks west of Hawthorne Blvd.

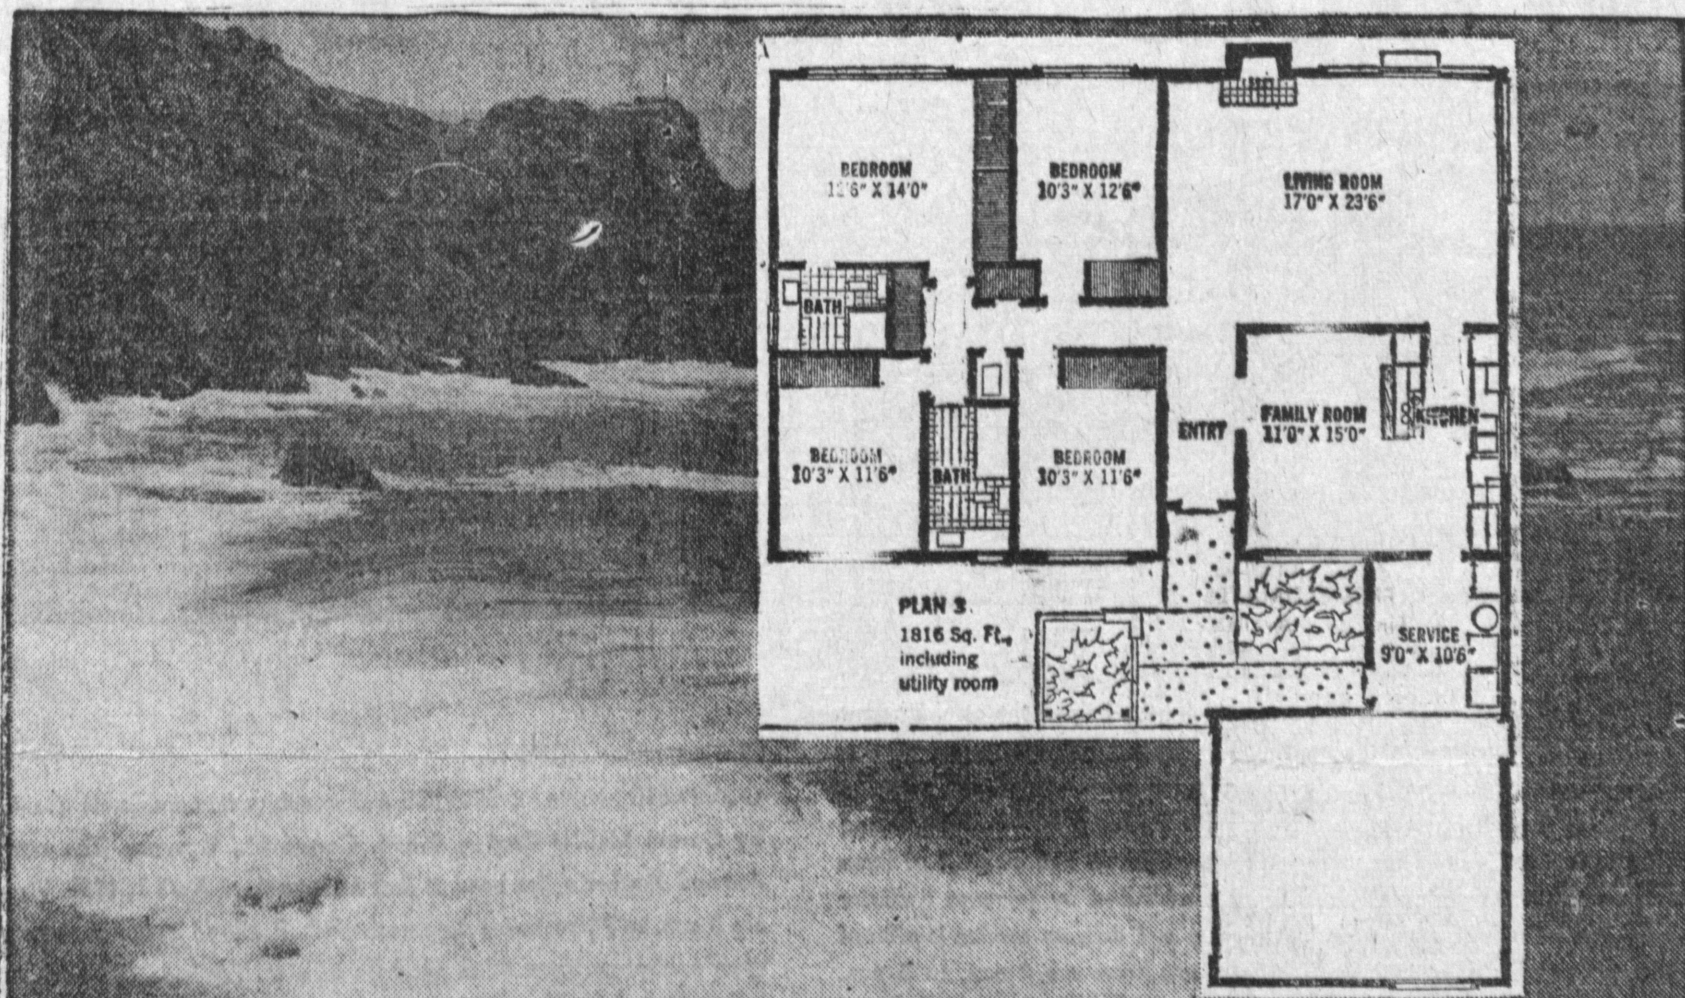

SLOGAN

"Equal educational opportunity for all is an absolutely asinine statement," said Prof. John Guy Fowlkes, former dean of the University of Wisconsin School of Education in a recent address to educators at Madison. He said this slogan should be replaced by "equal educational opportunity for all in terms of ability and industriousness or application. Going to college is a privilege to be exercised, and not a right to be abused."
