

Set Drive Against Abandoned Iceboxes

Torrance police officers this week launched an all-out effort to rid the community of unused or abandoned iceboxes and refrigerators.

Assistant Police Chief Hank Porter pointed out that Torrance has ordinances prohibiting the abandonment of these dangerous boxes in places accessible to younger children. "These things are death-traps," he said. "Each year they take their toll of young lives. Youngsters find them irresistible as a place to hide and, if the door is closed, they haven't a chance."

DOORS OFF

Virtually every city in the county, as well as the county itself, has passed ordinances providing that doors must be taken off the iceboxes or locks broken before owners may dispose of them.

In one recent 12-month period in the southeastern portion of the county, two youngsters died and two others were rescued in a state of near-suffocation from the lethal boxes.

Owners who want to keep the outmoded containers, or junk dealers who have picked them up, should either remove the lock or hinges, or place metal straps around the exterior.

Porter emphasized that any resident of this community has only to call the police department and an officer will immediately go out and render the box harmless.

He added that other organizations, aware of the toll of young lives exacted each year by the iceboxes, have taken steps to eliminate the menace.

Porter quoted a letter from the State Rubbish Collectors Association in Los Angeles, addressed to the Torrance Police Department, which said:

CONCERN

"As active and responsible citizens of the Los Angeles community, our members have become extremely concerned with the increasing frequency of children's deaths caused by unused iceboxes, refrigerators and freezers. We all have children and grandchildren of our own and are appalled at the needless tragedy and heartbreak caused by these insidious deathtraps.

"We feel that something concrete and effective should be done about it immediately. Therefore, we offer our services to you and the citizens of your community in disposing of these deathtraps. We will pickup and destroy any unused refrigerator, icebox or freezer without charge if you will refer any calls to our office at RAYmond 3-5312.

"We ask the cooperation of the police department because, first, you are in-involved in enforcement, second, you would seem to be the best organized to handle it, and most important, because we believe you will be performing a most valuable service to your community.

"We will cooperate with you in any way that you wish in this program and would welcome any suggestions you may have."

ORDINANCE OKAYED — City councilmen last night voted 4-2 in favor of rezoning the controversial Marble Estates tract from industrial to residential use. Favoring the change were Councilmen J. A. Beasley, Willy Blount, Nickolas Drale and George Bradford.

Opposing the motion, which was made by Drale, were Mayor Albert Isen and Councilman George Vico. Councilman Victor Benstead was absent. Final reading of the ordinance effecting the change will be held next Tuesday evening.

Rezoning Ordinance Okayed by Council

Residential Use for Marble Estate Okayed

Torrance City Councilmen last night faced a hostile audience and voted 4-2 to rezone the controversial Marble Estates property from industrial to residential use.

Builder Don Wilson, who plans to build several hundred homes on the 155-acre parcel, told the council that "progress" can only be measured in terms of people and not in industrial development.

"I have held options on this property since February," Wilson said, "and I have not had even one inquiry on the availability of this property, or any portion of it, for industrial development."

He pointed out that the need of people for homes was a constant and increasing demand, and expressed surprise that some officials would "allow any advantage for Torrance except the right for people to live here."

A substitute motion, which would have deferred the issue until the April elections, proposed by Mayor Albert Isen, was beaten down 4-2.

MOTION MADE

Motion to approve the rezoning of the property was made by Councilman Nickolas Drale and seconded by Councilman J. A. Beasley.

Councilman George Bradford quoted an unbiased report, released last week by the Southwest Area Planning Commission, that indicated a surplus of industrial land in the southwestern portion of the county and pointed out that Torrance presently has some 3200 acres zoned for industrial use.

"By 1980," Bradford quoted the report, "the South Bay area will have in the neighborhood of 1,450,000 inhabitants. At the accepted ratio of eight acres of industrial land for 1000 population, there will still be nearly 7000 acres of surplus land available."

Voting in favor of the zone change were Councilmen Willy Blount, Drale, Beasley and Bradford. Opposed were Isen and Councilman George Vico.

Second and final reading of the ordinance is scheduled for next Tuesday evening.

POLYGRAPH TEST . . .

Latest Suspect Cleared In Missing Girl Case

Los Angeles City Police, investigating the three-week old disappearance of Karen Lynn Tompkins, again found themselves without a clue when latest suspect, arrested Friday, passed lie detector tests with flying colors.

Suspect, Emanuel V. Hajek, 47, of 20730 S. Main St., was arrested when neighbors alleged that he had tried to lure a small girl into his car near 208th St. and Catalina.

Hajek had been questioned earlier in the disappearance of the youngster but was released.

Suspicion of the officers was also aroused, they said, when it was learned that Hajek lived only two blocks from the scene of Karen Tompkins' disappearance, the Halldale schoolground, until a short time after the youngster was discovered missing.

Once again the Torrance area is being invaded by fast talking home fire alarm salesmen, city officials reported yesterday.

The Torrance Fire Department again warns the public to be wary of anyone who wishes to present a "fire prevention" talk in the home. These salesmen usually imply that they are fire prevention personnel or work with the fire department in these matters.

Highway Patrol Suspends Three Officers Following Probe of 'Hypnotism Parties'

Three officers from the Torrance substation of the California Highway Patrol were suspended from duty and two others were reprimanded Monday after investigating officers revealed that they had taken part in "hypnotism parties" with several juvenile girls from this area.

Evidence also indicated that they had taken the girls for rides on CHP motorcycles and other activities.

Lt. John Reed, acting commander of the station, said the officers were probably not involved in any illegal or immoral activities and were guilty only of "poor judgment."

Suspended were Officer Anthony Rios, five days, and Officers Veale Fonville and Henry Hopkins, three days. Receiving reprimands were Officers Max Stragle and Lee Minikus. Case was investigated by CHP and state attorney general's office.
