Bible Discussion Held at Redondo Church of Christ

A new series of lessons on the Book of Revelation is being offered at Church of Christ, 6122 Pacific Coast Hwy., Redondo Beach.

Dr. Warren S. Jones, teacher of the Wednesday evening class, pointed out in the introductory lesson some of the basic ideas for a fuller understanding of the book.

"There is little doubt in the minds of most scholars that it is Johanneine in authorship and was probably completed about 95 or 96 A.D.," Jones said. In his first lecture he said that many pseudo-prophecies find texts for each of the world events in history. Others find in it speculative ideas clearly contradicted by other passages in the Bible.

It is due to these conflicting ideas on the Apocalypse that for several years Jones has presented the book in the light of progressive parallelism. This interpretation, originated by Dr. William Hendriksen, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, offers a sane approach to the Book and avoids the wild tangents which are made possible by other approaches.

All chapters have worked together on the invitations, name tags, programs and decorations, which will feature all shades of blue to carry out their chosen theme. The hostesses will also be dressed in blue.

Mrs. Rodney Scholtes, Southern California Council president, will convene the meeting at 10 a.m. Invocation will be sung by Mrs. Russell Idle, accompanied by Mrs. Glenn Landes.

Vice-President, Mrs. Oran Bridges will welcome special guests. Among them will be Mrs. Ardella B. Tibby, honorary member of Compton City Council and the 16 city or area council presidents who will be seated at a special table.

Mrs. Edwin Larson, service chairman, will give a report on the state service project, cystic fibrosis, and what the sorority has contributed to the California State Division of Cystic Fibrosis.

Highlight of the meeting will be a guest speaker, Stary Gange, special consultant to the Southern California Gas Company, a popular and humorous speaker. He has chosen "Tomorrow Will Be a Busy Day" as his topic.
