

Name Top Executives for Torrance 'Big Ben' Center

Obby Gribow and Arthur Guyer have been appointed president and vice president of a new chain of discount stores to be called "Big Ben."

Announcement was made by George Graziadio, president of Golden State Properties, Inc., creators and owners of the new subsidiary, Big Ben, Inc., a projected chain of 12 large discount stores to be located throughout Southern California.

First Big Ben center will be a 90,000 square foot building now completed at Crenshaw Blvd. and Pacific Coast Hwy. in Torrance. Public opening will be held in mid-November. Thirty-five departments will stock $2 million in nationally advertised brand merchandise to be sold at self-service prices.

PIONEER

Gribow, pioneer jeweler, diamond expert and discount center operator in Texas, Arizona and California, is the former president of the Los Angeles Buyers Merchandise Mart and GUV Stores, and was an original participant in the La Brea Sales Organization, Los Angeles. In addition, Gribow currently operates jewelry departments in several discount organizations in Southern California.

Guyer was formerly vice president and general manager with the Schenley Corporation and Alfred Hart Distilleries, Ltd.

Success of their wholesale-retail merchandising policies, including personal operation of many concessions, led to the selection of the two men as an executive team to plan and manage the new chain of Big Ben centers.

Big Ben center in Torrance will include the following departments: Grocery and Produce, Meat, Drugs and Sundries, a Prescription Center, Automotive and Sporting Goods, as well as the usual fashion, housewares, toys and jewelry departments.

Headquarters for the chain of Big Ben centers is presently at 184 South Elena Ave., Redondo Beach.

COMMEMORATION—Two decades of a formal equal job opportunity and fair employment practice program are commemorated by documents being shown to recent visitors at the Harvey Aluminum plant in Torrance. Reading over the shoulder of Personnel Manager H. C. Hutchinson are Supervisor Louis Creeey and Kiyo Oishi, secretary, plant employees, Richard Tofoya, representing the LA city council, Henry Mendoza of the Willowbrook District school board, and Vincent Yberre of the Mexican Junior Chamber of Commerce. Employees accepted congratulations from the visitors on the plant's fair employment program.

Torrance Area Included in Foundation's Fund Raising Campaign for First Time

Spastic Children's Foundation and Honorary Chairman, Academy Award Winner Joanne Woodward, today officially announced that Torrance, for the first time, will be included in the Foundation's fall mailing.

The fall mailing purpose is to seek funds to aid in supporting the training center for cerebral palsied children at 1307 West 105th Street, Los Angeles. Training Center is a non-profit, non-sectarian resident and day school providing care, education training and therapies to the cerebral palsied in the greater Los Angeles area.

"Halloween can be such fun for youngsters—but cerebral palsied children can't go trick or treating," said Miss Woodward, who has two youngsters of her own. "This is the Foundation's way of knocking on your door for them on Halloween and saying, 'Please—don't forget us. We can't do any tricks, but will you read our letter when it comes in the mail? There is a return envelope, won't you put a treat in it for us?'"

Amount needed to carry on the regular work of habilitation at the training center is in excess of $10,000 a month, according to Miss Woodward.

The need to help those afflicted with cerebral palsy is greater than ever," she said. "Population has exploded—which means that there are thousands of handicapped children right here in our back yard who are in desperate need of the specialized professional type of service provided by Spastic Children's Foundation."

Community Chest now supports 170 agencies throughout the entire Los Angeles area. These charitable agencies provide services for this community such as guiding and training youth; prevention of family breakdown; hospitals, clinics and health services fighting disease and illness and care for homeless children, or those in trouble.

Last phase of this year's campaign starts Nov. 2 when the residential volunteers kickoff in all Harbor Area cities. He urged volunteer workers to solicit early and finish the campaign early. "It's not a big quota and we should have no real trouble in putting it over the top," Gregory said.

"By making an early start in soliciting for gifts, we will also finish our campaign early," he concluded. Community Chest now supports 170 agencies throughout the entire Los Angeles area.

County Opposes Off-Shore Wells

Supervisor Burton W. Chace Tuesday expressed his opposition to the granting of a permit for exploratory drilling offshore of the Palos Verdes Estates coastline.

In a letter to Lt. Gov. Glenn Anderson, chairman of the State Lands Commission, Chace said: "I would like to go on record as completely opposing the granting of a permit for offshore drilling along the Palos Verdes Estates coastline."

"Since the Palos Verdes Peninsula is primarily an exclusive residential area, there is no doubt that commercial barges offshore would seriously jeopardize the property values of the area. The noise, odor and danger of beach pollution certainly can not be tolerated by the residents in the Peninsula."

"It should also be pointed out Palos Verdes Estates is an incorporated city with no industry and very limited retail business. Therefore it hardly seems proper that an industry offshore should be forced upon this high-class area."

"It seems to me that there are many other areas more suitable for this kind of activity than the Palos Verdes Peninsula. This is one of the few beautiful coastal areas left. As the Los Angeles County Supervisor representing the area, I strongly urge that it be permitted to remain so."

An application for offshore drilling along the Palos Verdes Estates coastline was taken under consideration by the State Lands Commission Thursday.

Coastal gardeners can plant lawns. Where early cold snaps are the rule, it might be better to wait until spring. Ask your nurseryman.
