

Cruise Ends At Polynesian

Mrs. Lewis P. Reitz of Palos Verdes Estates was feted upon her return from a six-month cruise to the South Pacific with a party at the Polynesian Restaurant in Torrance.

Hosting the large dinner gathering was her husband, "Pete" Reitz.

Mrs. Reitz, who sailed aboard the schooner

"Dwynn Wen," returned to the mainland from Tahiti after visiting the Marquesas and Galapagos islands.

Glitter Is Answer To Princess Look

Glitter like a princess for the holiday season is the fashion advice from the November issue of Seventeen Magazine.

Glitter is the secret in looking like a princess—dresses that glitter and glow, snowy whites, lame separates, copper, gold dust and silver.

Sweaters are gay with Lurex threads, crepe dresses come straight from a water-color palette.

For the evening that outshines all others, the teenage girl will want a sparkling dress in the romantic silhouette—snug bodice and rounded or full skirt.

This year's color is white, lavished with iridescent paillettes or rhinestones.

Fashions range from strapless, ankle-length silk organza to short, curved satin.

Glitter-trimmed white can turn a girl into a princess for less formal evenings, too. Wintery white wools come in a variety of silhouettes, all lit with silvery bugle beads, sparkling rhinestones and the like.

A real princess can have the most precious metals—and so can a high school princess.

Her copper, gold and silver come as shiny metallic yarns, knitted into fabrics designed to dazzle.

She might choose a shimmering length of smooth lame poured into casual lines, a slip of a dress in silvery glitter, or a streak of gold overblouse and skirt.

The glitter of Lurex tells a sweater story, too, in grand-scale pants-toppers and skinny sleeveless styles.

Seafood Meal Before Sailing

George M. Foster, owner of Marineland Restaurant in Palos Verdes, and Mrs. Foster hosted a seafood dinner party in the dining establishment's "Porpoise Room" on the eve of their departure for Europe.

The Fosters will spend seven weeks in nine countries before returning to the South Bay in time for the Christmas holidays.

Inside Your Home

Your Decorating Problems Answered

By BEN L. WALLACE, N.S.I.D.

Mr. Wallace: Should the lamps in a room match or can they be different in size and color? I was told by a decorator that lamps should match to give your room a continuous planned look. I do not agree with this and would appreciate your comments on this.

F. A. Brown, Lomita
K. A. Brown:

I must say I do not agree with this either in general, but there are always good reasons for matching lamps. It depends on the decor, scale, color and the layout of what ever else is going on in the room.

For example in contemporary furnishings I suggest not matching identical lamps, transitional the same way, Colonial traditional and provincial are generally desirable with matching lamps. However, remember I am speaking in general terms only. Each situation and room requires a different analysis.

Mr. Wallace:

I have an entry hall about eight feet long that I would like to put a large horizontal mirror on one side. Do you think this would be in good taste?

Mrs. Long

If you have an eight foot free wall without doors interrupting this wall try taking a four foot wide area and clear up to the ceiling with a vertical line mirror rather than a horizontal. In my opinion this treatment would be far more effective and would give the illusion that the entry hall is much larger than it really looks.

I would like to have all people interested in sitting in on a question and answer decorating class which I will conduct one evening a month. Call me for reservations at my office, FA 8-2778, for further details. There will be no charge for this class.

Note: Send your letters or cards with your questions to the Torrance Press, care of Ben L. Wallace, N.S.I.D., 3238 Sepulveda Blvd., Torrance, Calif.
