Bass Drum Booms
Disneyland Opening

A daylight fireworks display with an international good-will theme, the unveiling of "the world's largest bass drum," and the appearance of five stars from Walt Disney's new motion picture, "Babes in Toyland," have been added to the line-up for Disneyland's "Christmas in Many Lands" parade beginning at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

The fireworks display will mark the beginning of the parade. Flags of 100 nations will be shot into the air and each will unfurl as it floats to the ground.

Ed Wynn, Annette, Kevin Corcoran, Gene Sheldon and Henry Calvin — all appearing in the new Disney film — will ride in the "Parade of the Toys" sequence of Sunday's procession.

They'll pass in review down Main Street along with nearly 3,000 performers, dressed in the colorful clothing of 30 nations and presenting holiday songs, dances and toy customs from countries on five continents.

Disneyland visitors Sunday will also view "The Big Bass Drum," largest in the world, standing 10 and one-half feet high, played by Mickey Mouse seated on top; and the release of 500 pigeons at the start of the parade and 10,000 balloons at its conclusion.

Music will be supplied by 18 marching bands, and 23 floats depicting Christmas toys representative of participating nations will be on view. Along the line of march, parade performers will toss 1,000 small stuffed toys and more than 10,000 flowers and pieces of candy to the crowd.

Sunday's parade is the kick-off of two weeks of special holiday entertainment at Disneyland. Featured daily events during the period are "Parade of the Toys" at 1:30 and 5:15 p.m., the lighting of a 24-foot star atop Matterhorn Mountain, and a new attraction, the "Babes in Toyland Village."

Following Sunday's parade, Dennis Morgan will narrate "The Christmas Story" at 5 p.m. during a candlelight procession of 900 choir singers, vocalizing yuletide carols.
