sonary speaker from Shangri-La. Mannequin is dressed in native Japanese costume and is just one of many mannequins, seen during the conference, which will be dressed in costumes representing various foreign countries being represented by missionaries. The tremendous missionary event will conclude on Sunday evening, March 4.

Missionary Conference Hears Speakers from Around World

Local citizens are much involved in a week of concentrated missionary program. Serving as decorations chairman for the Hawthorne church was Mrs. John Stoffel, 3818 W. 184th St., Torrance. She arranged United Nations flags across the front of the church similar to the International Airport display. The front of the church inside is graced by mannequins dressed in native costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Davidson, with their five children, residing at 3347 Dalemead St., Torrance, are daily participants in the Missionary Conference at the Hawthorne Alliance Church. Mr. Davidson serves that church as financial secretary, with church assets of $170,678.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reed, with their three children, are members of the Hawthorne Alliance Church. Mr. Reed is the missionary treasurer for the Hawthorne church and handles the missionary pledges of $14,468. They have assisted in bringing the participating missionaries from the four corners of the world.

PREPARATIONS

Final preparations are being made for simultaneous annual missionary conferences in three Los Angeles County Christian and Missionary Alliance Churches.

Starting Tuesday this conference will gather missionaries from the four corners of the globe to participate at the following churches: The West Washington Community Church at 1945 Carmona Ave., Los Angeles, pastored by Rev. Ralph Bell; The Manhattan Beach Christian and Missionary Alliance Church at 300 Redondo Ave. is pastored by Rev. E. A. Moroni; and the Hawthorne Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, 131 Menlo Ave., whose pastor is Rev. Herbert S. Clingen. This conference will begin each evening at 7:30 Tuesday through Friday, and concludes Sunday evening at 7 p.m. on March 4. It is very apropos that the local Hawthorne pastor, Rev. Herbert S. Clingen, and his wife are returned missionaries from Laos.

Tuesday and Sunday evening at the Hawthorne Alliance Church, 131 Menlo Ave., and on Thursday evening and Sunday 11 a.m. at the Manhattan Beach Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, 300 Redondo Beach, will be programmed with Miss Beulah Bowen, endeared teacher who went to the tribes of Viet Nam in May 1949. Her labor has been centered mostly among the primitive Koko speaking tribes who live in the high mountains accessible only by footpaths through the jungle and over mountains. Miss Bowen had part in the spiritual oversight of the day school for tribes children where she taught, and also through village schools in teaching the young people to read and write.

FEATURED SPEAKER

Rev. Gordon Diehl from the fabulous Ivory Coast, will be the featured speaker at the Manhattan Church on Tuesday and Friday nights and at the Hawthorne Alliance Church on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. and on the concluding day, Sunday, March 4, at 11 a.m. He has served two terms on the Ivory Coast and will be bringing curios, costumes and 35mm slides to describe his field of work.

During his first term under the Christian and Missionary Alliance he was chiefly engaged in station work, evangelism of unreached areas, and training of African Laymen in short-term Bible school programs. Missionary Diehl will relate the thrilling story of "Akumvikro," a village which responded to the Gospel mes-
