

WARM UP — Music teacher Milton Marcus leads the all-elementary school orchestra in warm-up exercises. Group is readying for the North Area Music Festival to be held April 13.

THREE REEDS — Members of the reed section, Bill Jackins, bass clarinet; Craig Nelson and Larry Nelson, bassoon, practice up for the all-elementary music festival slated for Friday.

Nine Torrance Schools Present Music Festival

Nine elementary schools in the North Torrance Area and North High School will present a varied music program of band and orchestra Friday night, April 13, 7:30 p.m., in the North High School gymnasium. The program will include a variety of dances, marches, folk songs, and symphonic works, representing the versatility, the educational and cultural growth of Torrance children.

A considerable amount of teacher directed group and individual practice has been conducted in order that students could develop the responsibility, consistent work habits, and teamwork required in the musical production. The values realized in self-satisfaction and musical understanding on the part of students is borne out by the fact that even though the music period is relatively short, many children beg to remain and continue the practice at the end of the Schools and music directors taking part in the Northern festival are as follows: North High, Bob Jones; Perry, Crenshaw, Madison—Ronald Blank; Edson, Hamilton, Yukon—Adrian Paskowitz; Lincoln, Casimir, Carr—Milton Marcus. During the program school board member William C. Boswell will introduce the music teachers, who have studied and played professionally in this and in foreign countries, in colleges and universities, including Juilliard, New York, Notre Dame, Illinois, Tel Aviv, USC and UCLA.

Members of this group have as a professional background a number of engagements including work in the New York Philharmonic, Hit Parade, radio, TV, motion pictures, Los Angeles Philharmonic and Beach Cities, Compton and Pasadena community groups.

VFW Joins Thirty-Nine Posts in Mass Installation of Officers

Torrance Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 325 and its auxiliary will join other posts of the fourth district Saturday, April 14, to honor newly elected officers at the twelfth annual, joint mass installation in the International Room of the Lafayette Hotel, Long Beach.

Cmdr. John Guyen says the fourth district has the oldest continuous mass installation in the country. "It is by far the largest ceremonial display in the entire Veterans of Foreign Wars."

TAKE PART

"This year approximately 39 posts will take part in the colorful ceremonies. The installing officer will be department commander, Orville Lofton, who will install the officers at 8 p.m."

The new commander, John Guyen, is a native son of Torrance. He resides in the city with his wife and three sons. Although employed full time by National Supply Co., he is a part-time real estate salesman for Fred Hansen Realty.

Other officers of post 325 to be installed are: George Spaulding, Sr. vice-cmdr.; James McVey, Jr. vice-cmdr.; Robert Riggles, quartermaster; Clifford Boots, chaplain; John Hunt, surgeon; Harold Boots, judge advocate; Curtis Earles, three year trustee; Arthur Moore, adjutant; Alfred Verne, guard; Harold Boots, officer of the day; Lyle Fenn, legislative officer; Bill Earles, public relations officer; Jess Dean, patriotic instructor.

According to Guyen, post 325 is in the midst of membership drive. Interested persons may contact the post by calling FA 8-1175.
