Needless Deaths Caused By 'Lack of Respect'

"A lack of respect for railroad grade crossings is costing far too many lives annually in our state," California Highway Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden pointed out today.

"During the last five years 565 persons have lost their lives needlessly at grade crossings and the 22 rail crossing deaths recorded for January of this year indicate the wasteful slaughter is continuing.

FULL STOP

"The law is very clear—it calls for a full stop whenever you approach a railway crossing warning device in operation," the commissioner said. After making the full stop, the driver may proceed if the crossing can be made safely.

"The old adage that familiarity breeds contempt is borne out by the number of these grade crossing accidents which occur near the victim's place of residence.

"All railroad grade crossings, whether protected by mechanical warning devices or not, deserve more respect than they are receiving from our motoring public," Crittenden concluded.

Dills also authorized Bill 9, which provides for stronger narcotics penalties.

Long appreciated for his help to youth, many members of the parent-teacher groups are active in planning the reception.

Handicapped Are Reliable, Says Murray W. Love

"A handicapped employee who has the qualifications for a particular job is likely to be the most reliable worker an employer can hire."

This is the fact that Murray W. Love, manager of Torrance office, State Department of Employment, would like to get across to Torrance employers.

To further the department's campaign, Mayor Yorty's Committee on Employment for the Handicapped has arranged a giant luncheon to be held in the Biltmore Hotel at noon on May 1. Chairman of the committee is Mrs. Virginia Scott Kellogg of Industrial Indemnity Co., Love said.

SISTER CITY

The occasion also will honor Los Angeles' sister city, Nagoya, Japan, which has presented Mayor Yorty's committee with the Japanese city's own detail plan for aiding the handicapped.

Kakuo Tanaka, president of Commerce of Southern California, will discuss the sister city's relationship following a "Tribute to Nagoya" by Councilman Karl Rundberg, chairman of Los Angeles "People to People" Sister City Program Committee.

The Consul General of Japan, Matao Uru, will be present and the Japanese Trade Center will provide a display of Japanese products.

AWARDS

Awards of U.S. Savings Bonds will be presented to 10 Los Angeles high school students who have written prize-winning essays on the "Role of the Community in Employment of the Handicapped," Love said.

Presentation of the colors at the start of the luncheon will be by the 442nd Nisei Veterans Association of Southern California and the invocation will be by Father William McIntosh, S.J., of School of Industrial Relations, Loyola University.

Winning students, who will not know their places in the contest until the luncheon, are Aime Teder, Susan Kolodney, Agnes Miyahara, Cheri Lewis, Debra Bliss, all of John Marshall High School; Sandra Cook, Ruth Locke, Charles Weitkamp, and Suzanne Getzoff, all of Widney High School, and Helen Leneman of Hollywood High School.

RECEPTIONISTS

The receptionists will be six Los Angeles women of Japanese descent dressed in traditional kimonos and obis. Hostesses will be girls

Fred Mill Will Direct Campaign of Community Chest for Second Year

For the second consecutive year, Fred W. Mill will lead the 1962-63 Harbor Area Community Chest campaign, according to James Visceglia, Harbor Area Chest board chairman.

Mill, who has an outstanding record for past community service, is division controller and assistant vice-president, National Supply Co., Armco Steel Corp., Torrance.

In accepting his appointment, Mill said, "It gives me great pleasure to return as chairman for such a worthwhile cause."

"Many people in this area are aware of the services provided by Chest funds, such as Children's Hospital, family counseling services, boys' club, YMCA, maritime club and services, PTA health centers and dental clinics," Mill said.

UNAWARE

"However, on the other hand, there's a large percentage of the public unaware of these services."

"Therefore, to conduct a 100 per cent or better campaign, we need people . . . enough people to ask for funds and explain the work of the Chest's 170 agencies," Mill concluded.

Mill, also vice-chairman of the Harbor Area board, has been active with the Community Chest for several years, having taken over posts as area campaign vice-chairman and as a member of the Chest budget committee.

A one-time district chairman for the Boy Scouts of America, an agency included in the Chest appeal, Mill took part in the building of the Little Company of Mary Hospital as one of the organizers and finance chairman as well as co-finance chairman for the Torrance Memorial Hospital.

He is a past president of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce and currently is one of its directors.

Mill lives with his wife at 1525 Via Montemar, Palos Verdes.
