HOME HINTS

"WHAT IS A DECLARATION OF HOMESTEAD?"

A law has been passed to protect home owners against loss of home due to debt. By recording a DECLARATION OF HOMESTEAD, the head of a family is protected to the extent of $12,500 against judgments and attachments which become effective after declaring the homestead. A single person may claim an exemption of $5000 on his home.

A homestead does not protect against mortgages and trust deeds, mechanics' liens or judgments which become liens before the declaration was recorded.

The homestead, which consists of the house and the land on which it is situated can be broken only by selling the property to others, foreclosure under mortgage or trust deed or recording a Declaration of Abandonment. Only one homestead may be held at a time and the claimant must be living on the property.

If a homestead property worth $15,000 is ordered sold by the court for payment of debts, the head of the family may take $12,500 and reinvest in a new home. This exemption expires if such reinvestment is not made within six months. The creditors get any amount in excess of the $12,500 exemption after the forced sale ($2,500 in this case).

While forms for declaring a homestead are available, it is advisable to have an attorney attend to the filing to avoid errors or omissions which might make the declaration void.
