Edison Company Offers Help In Home Electrical Systems

Expert assistance in planning the electrical system of any home—whether it's a new residence or one being remodeled—is available free of charge to customers of Southern California Edison Company, the utility announced this week.

"We are anxious to have all residents of Edison service territory informed of the services provided by our consultants, and to take full advantage of them whenever they can be useful," declared Edison District Manager L. E. Jenkins.

Home-owners wishing assistance are instructed to telephone their local Edison district offices, Jenkins explained. Experienced residential consultants are available at each office, he said, to go over house plans to make sure there are enough electrical circuits of proper sizes wires, an adequate number of correctly placed convenience outlets and switches, and to offer advice on all other facets of the home electrical system.

In addition, Jenkins pointed out, Edison home economists can give sound advice on the placement of new kitchen appliances for maximum efficiency, as well as instruction on their care and use.

Electric range and electric water heater servicing is available without charge, also, the Edison official said. Should they require repair or adjustment after their manufacturer's warranty has expired, an expert service man is available simply by calling the local Edison office. The only charge for range and water heater service is the cost of any parts which might need replacing.

Los Angeles SPCA Offers Hints For Comfort of Household Pets

Your Los Angeles SPCA reminds pet owners that animals suffer from the heat just as you do. So be careful during the several months of hot weather ahead that your pets don't suffer unnecessarily.

If you are away during the day and must leave your dog confined outdoors instead of in the house, make sure that he can always reach a shady spot. Allow for the fact that the sun moves across the yard all day, too—an area which is shaded in the morning may be blistering sun by afternoon.

And, whether your pet is indoors or out, he should at all times have cool, fresh drinking water available.

"Remember," says George Crozier, general manager of the society, "your pet is completely dependent upon your thoughtful care for his comfort, and even his life. Don't betray his trust."

State Controller Cranston Tells Increases in Revenue From Gifts

Californians are giving more and bigger gifts these days.

This is the word from State Controller Alan Cranston, who keeps track of gift tax collections. Cranston noted that the gift tax is yielding about 50 per cent more for the General Fund this year than it did last year.

By the end of the current fiscal year on June 30, Cranston said, the gift tax is expected to have produced $5.3 million. Last year it raised $3.6 million.

The controller reported that the average collection per gift tax return this year is $763, compared with $569 last year. More than 7,000 returns already have been filed this year—about 14 per cent more than last year.

Cranston said a strengthened auditing program may also be responsible in part for the increased revenue.

The state gift tax law requires the filing of a return by any donor of a gift of more than $4,000 in value in any one calendar year.
