YOUR PROBLEMS
by Ann Landers

'Model Routine Off the Cobb . . .

Dear Ann Landers: I came to this rather large city from a small town in Kansas. I was unable to get the kind of employment I had hoped for and my money was running out, so I took a job as a cocktail waitress. The lounge where I work is a favorite hang out for advertising and public relations executives. Their suit sleeves don't have creases in them like the yokels I used to know back home. (My girl friend told me this is the first thing to look for.)

Yesterday one of the best-looking men I ever saw asked me why a girl with such gorgeous legs was waiting on tables. He said I ought to be a hosiery model and that he could help me. But he doesn't want to talk about the job in his office. He prefers my place.

Do you know anything about hosiery modeling? I used to read your column back in Kansas and I trust you, Ann. Please help me.—TOUGH SLEDDING

Dear Sledding: That model routine is strictly off the cob. Model agencies have lists a mile long of girls with beautiful gams who are stepping all over each other trying to get jobs.

The man's sleeve may not have a crease but I think he's got something up it. Tell him to get lost.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 13-year-old daughter, Mary Alice, is a sweet and innocent little girl. She received a necklace and some earrings from a 14-year-old boy who lives in the neighborhood. I would guess the boy paid about $7 for the set.

Mary Alice did not tell me about the gift when she received it. I learned about it from her older sister who tried unsuccessfully to blackmail Mary Alice into doing her household chores. I didn't want to make a big thing of the gift so I said nothing.

That was two weeks ago. Since that time I have discussed the matter with some friends and they all
