

Opinions of Others

"That the majority is always right, that our chosen leaders are infallible, and that our nation is invincible, are extremely popular misconceptions that are much too often confused with patriotism. The majority is not always right, our leaders are merely human, and our nation, against the growing odds of socialism and the world government ambitions of the United Nations, is not necessarily invincible!"—Clermont (Fla.) Press.

"Going to church regularly may not be your habit, but it would be a mighty good habit for you to have."—Cuero (Texas) Record.

"Our stubborn farm problems are minor compared with those of the communists. Whereas crop failures have shaken the communist hierarchy and led to the downfall of Khrushchev, U.S. productivity could be one of our most important defense weapons . . . Robert C. Liebenow, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, says that American food exports should be used as 'effective instruments of foreign policy' in fighting communism. He believes that such shipments should be paid for out of foreign aid and national defense appropriations rather than farm aid funds. . . This, he asserts, is the way to peace."—Crown Point (Ind.) Star.

"A leading economist fears a period of inflation may be just around the corner. That's comparable to a man standing in waist-deep water fearing his feet may get wet."—Gordon (Neb.) Journal.

"To the great bulk of taxpayers who have part of their income withheld each payday, the Internal Revenue Service has issued a word of caution on what to expect. Because of the timing of the tax cut this year, withholdings in many cases will not match the tax required next April. Refunds will be smaller and fewer."—Santa Paula (Calif.) Chronicle.

" . . . Arizona contains 15 Indian reservations, varying in size and value. Most of them were established between 1870 and 1890, and most of them consist of lands which were then considered of relatively little value to white men. Note that we mentioned 'then considered' of little value . . . today those redskins are discovering both oil and uranium on their spreads . . . Maybe this oil and uranium bit is, in fact, a sort of delayed payment for the vast lands and hunting grounds our ancestors acquired by force."—Tempe (Ariz.) News.

"One thing the United States Supreme Court cannot do is declare the United States Constitution unconstitutional. If the Court could do so, it might attack the make-up of the United States Senate which, with two senators from each state regardless of size, is clearly defying the Court's fiat that representation in state legislatures must be on the basis of population."—Ocean City (N. J.) Sentinel-Ledger.

As citizens of the world's greatest democracy, we know first hand of horrible injustices that are perpetrated by skillful law dodgers. We know that a democracy protects the crooks, evildoers, and the scum of our society completely too many times. Sometimes it seems as though it were devised to encourage conniving and skulduggery. We forgive, forget, and overlook flagrant violations of decency and honor. And yet . . . this is the best. What's better?—Humboldt (Iowa) Independent.

A news dispatch says the government has brought monopoly charges against bubble gum manufacturers. They are accused of cornering the market on pictures of baseball stars to put in bubble gum wrappers. One's first reaction to this is that if our people in government don't have more to do than fret about bubble gum wrappers, we have too many people in government.—Abilene (Kan.) Reflector-Chronicle.

We are still a free people . . . we still have a choice in selecting our representatives. So long as this condition continues to exist, we can accomplish with ballots—instead of bullets—whatever changes in government may become necessary.—Burley (Ida.) Herald Bulletin.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 8
I suppose almost every mother worries about thumbsucking at one time or another.

But most experts agree that if not overdone, it's perfectly normal, rarely harmful. Things that may cut down excessive thumbsucking: If a young baby sucks his thumb lustily, it could be that he needs more time at breast or bottle.

Teethers who suck their thumbs to soothe tender gums will get biting satisfaction from Gerber Teething Biscuits.

Toddlers can often be distracted from thumbsucking with 2-way games or do-something toys.

Memo from Dan Gerber. "One of our regular research projects is to determine which grains will make the best possible cereal. Take the selection of rice grains. Gerber researchers work closely with millers and the U. S. Department of Agriculture to select the correct varieties. Of 32 major varieties, only 6 are used. These are chosen for superior quality, good mixing and cooking characteristics . . . and because they meet nutrition standards set down by our experts. "Nutrition research is done on a continuing basis. When you buy Gerber, you're sure of your money's worth in nourishment." Regulating idea. When your baby is ready to go on a 3-meals-a-day schedule, you'll find a change of scene or a bit of attention will help him wait out a half hour or so to meet his new schedule. Babies are adaptable and will usually settle for attention if the wait isn't too long. Growing idea. Your baby gains more in height and weight the first year than the next two put together. That's why it's important to see that he gets plenty of protein foods. . . the great "helping hands" of growth. Gerber Strained and Junior Meats are high in precious protein, extra-low in fat and easy as can be to digest. Made from special cuts, selected by Armour, they're processed by an exclusive method which insures the wonderfully smooth, moist texture these quality meats are famous for.
