Creativity Center Will Mark Opening Saturday

The Children's Creativity Center, a unique children's store, will celebrate its grand opening Saturday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. The store will have its quarters at La Primera School, 3919 W. 242nd St., in Welteria.

Preston Hibbard will entertain youngsters throughout the day with his Punch and Judy Puppet Show, starting at 10 a.m. Lynn Larson's Ladybugs also will stage their puppet shows during the day.

Dr. Fitzhugh Dodson, psychological consultant to La Primera School, said the basic idea behind the Children's Creativity Center is that parents are the most important teachers of their children and that home is the most important classroom.

The center will stock enrichment materials that are needed in a home to stimulate emotional and intellectual growth in children: books, toys, games, records, and art supplies for children from 3 to 12.

The center also will function as a clearing house for information for parents, giving notice of children's theater, puppet shows, art shows, and concerts.

Two local youths are among blue ribbon winners of the 4-H Home Economics competition at the Los Angeles County Fair. Winners are Cynthia Kelly, 603 W. 214th St., and Terry Watson, 25738 Crest Road. The fair will continue through Oct. 3.

Cotton fiber is static free.

Saturday morning art classes for elementary school youngsters will be offered by Lynn Larson, art teacher at the center.

The center will be open from 9 to 5 Monday through Saturday. Information may be obtained by calling 378-4007.

Boost in Draft Quotas Aid Naval Reserve Units

Increased draft quotas have spurred enlistments in Naval Reserve units in the 11th Naval District, Navy officers report.

For the month of July this year, which saw the greatest possibility of mobilization of the Naval Reserve in recent years, the 11th Naval District posted a gain in reserve recruiting of 29 per cent.

The spurt in enlistments comes during the 50th anniversary year of the Naval Reserve, which now has 550,000 personnel associated with 452 training centers across the nation.

AREA NAVAL Reserve armories include those at Hawthorne, Terminal Island, Compton, Santa Monica, and Chavez Ravine in Los Angeles.

The Naval Reserve as a federal organization was established during 1915 by the 63rd Congress.

Approximately 60 per cent of the personnel manning Navy ships and establishments during World War I were Naval Reservists.

IN WORLD WAR II, the 3,000,000 reservists constituted more than 80 per cent of Navy personnel, and in the Korean conflict 30 per cent of the Navy men on duty were reservists.

Thousands of reservists were on duty for the Berlin crisis of 1961 and for the Cuban confrontation in 1962, so it is no surprise that the Naval Reserve will play an equally big part in the Viet Nam struggle during the 50th anniversary year in 1965.
