About Cars and Things

by Ray Vane

People shopping for a used car often ask "How many miles per gallon can I get in this car?" Actually, it's not just the car that gets good mileage, it is also the driver. A steady driver can get as much as 30% better mileage than a careless driver. About all you have to do is not be SUD-DEN.

Sometimes, too, a car with high horsepower has an advantage in that the engine "loafs." It doesn't lug. When a motor is laboring, the vacuum drops. It is gasping for air and the gasoline mixture becomes too rich. Some economy minded drivers install vacuum gauges to warn them of low vacuum.

What got us thinking about this is that we have and are taking in a lot of bigger used cars. Most of them have a lot of those luxury items that are so nice to have. Like air conditioning for instance. The way they are priced, you get a lot. And, if you want good gas economy, you can help yourself by good driving.

Come in and look them over. You may find just exactly what you want.

You'll find these cars at 2909 Pacific Coast Highway, Torrance.
