Hi-Shear Employes Take Home Three Tons of Ham for Holidays

A tradition started for Hi-Shear employes 18 years ago when the company had fewer than 20 on its work force climaxed pre-Christmas activity at the plant last Thursday when each of the present 600 employes received a Christmas ham.

Started by George S. Wing, the company's president, as a Christmas gesture nearly two decades ago, the 1965 project required nearly 6,000 pounds of ham.

THE PARTY last week was organized by Gladene (Cabby) Head, the company's chief inspector. She has organized the events since they began.

"This party, the eleventh, is the most successful and enjoyable I have been associated with," she said.

Another Hi-Shear tradition is the annual women's pre-Christmas buffet and gift exchange held the day before the beginning of the Christmas holiday. Hi-Shear's 98 ladies gathered to taste foods they had prepared, foods representing the many national backgrounds of the workers.

Realtors' Sessions Scheduled

Charles J. Pecora, newly elected president of the Torrance-Lomita Board of Realtors, will attend the annual officer's indoctrination program conducted by the California Real Estate Association (CREA) Jan. 7.

The program will be held at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles, Pecora said. Training sessions will be conducted for local real estate board secretaries.

Fred W. Mill, executive vice president of the Torrance-Lomita Board, also will attend the sessions.

A special program sponsored by the CREA will be attended by Mrs. Connie Taylor of Torrance, one of 31 regional vice presidents of the 52,000-member statewide association.

"We hold this indoctrination program each year as a refresher course," H. Jackson Pontius, executive vice president of CREA, explained. "It enables the local real estate boards to provide better professional assistance to realtors in their areas and, through them, increased service to the public."
