Boat Ramp To Be Built At Marina

Marina del Rey broke ground for a ten-lane launching ramp for trailer-borne boats Tuesday on the northwest corner of Admiralty Way and Fiji Way in the harbor.

Scheduled for completion within 120 days, the facility will be open for the summer boating season.

Speakers during the ceremony will include Supervisors Burton W. Chace, and Kenneth Hahn.

The board of supervisors awarded a $108,000 construction contract to build Phase One of the launching ramp.

First phase construction includes the building of a ten-lane concrete launching ramp, a wash rack with a ten-boat capacity, three floats for loading and boarding launched boats and roads for access and exit.

Until a permanent parking lot, lighting and landscaping are completed late this year, a temporary parking lot with a graded dirt surface will be used by boaters at the facility.

Nominal landscaping and permanent comfort stations will be completed this summer according to plans.
