

Seniors To Aid Library

When Bishop Montgomery's class of 1966 graduates this year they'll leave behind more than fond memories. As a class project, seniors are donating $2,000 for expansion of the school library.

Funds contributed by the graduating class will be used to purchase approximately 260 new books. Each volume is to be furnished with a special book plate bearing the name of a senior.

In order to raise the money, the class sponsored dances, sold freshmen, presented movies, and produced a talent show. Montgomery students received double benefit through the project, being able to enjoy both the entertainment and the subsequent profits.

Seniors chose to direct their efforts toward the library because they felt it would afford an opportunity to enhance the education of all Montgomery students, according to Tod Gulick, class president.

Local Coed Member of Girl's Day

Cathy Stalmack, 15, a senior from Narbonne High School in Harbor City, was selected to take part in the City of Los Angeles "Girl's Day in Government" March 22.

Miss Stalmack was assigned to the Social Service Department where General Manager Fern Jellison and members of the staff explained to the honor student the procedures used in implementing the charitable solicitation ordinance of Los Angeles.

The young acting-general manager, in company with Mrs. Jellison, visited the City Council in session, was introduced to Mayor Sam Yorty and other civic dignitaries, and attended a luncheon planned for the girls and their hosts in the Police Building dining room where Mrs. Eleanor Chambers, Deputy Mayor, was the featured speaker.

CATHY, WHO lives with her parents at 28359 Regent Avenue, Lomita, is vice president of her school's student body, vice president of the Girl's League, 1965-66 song leader and a member of the Lettergirls and the G.A.A. Her hobbies revolve around outdoor activities.

After graduation from Narbonne High in June, Miss Stalmack will attend Harbor College for one year, then transfer to the University of California in Santa Barbara. She plans on a career as a high school teacher in the field of physical education.

THE WALL... Joe Wilcox Jr., executive secretary of the Torrance Family YMCA, points to some of the 2,008 names of major donors to the YMCA building fund. The Wall was dedicated last Sunday during the formal opening of the new YMCA headquarters at 2900 W. Sepulveda Blvd. The Wall is located adjacent to the entry lobby at the new "Y" and will be expanded when a gymnasium and swimming pool are added to the new building. (Press-Herald Photo)

Schools Win Suit to Get Assessment Report Early

By PHILIP E. WATSON
County Assessor

that school districts have a duty "to prepare a budget which will utilize as much money as the maximum tax rate will permit."

WE ASKED for a new hearing, pointing out, among other things, that we felt it was the duty of the schools to prepare a budget to perform its educational duties— not necessarily to tax to the tax rate maximum.

The court refused our petition. Therefore, our office is under an obligation to comply with the law — and we will do so to the best of our ability.

The second case was a clearcut victory.

SINCE 1961, the county has had a running conflict with the Los Angeles Dodgers over the assessor's right to impose an assessment on a 40-acre parcel earmarked until 1981 for public recreation at Chavez Ravine.

The Dodgers took the position that this site — part of the 300 acres which Dodger President Walter O'Malley obtained from the city — was tax exempt because title rested with the city. We argued that the property was taxable since the Dodgers would come into ownership in 1981.

Each year the ballclub paid its taxes under protest and the case finally came to trial before Judge Leonard A. Diether.

JUDGE DIETHER sustained our arguments—mainly that the city was simply keeping title to the property under a contractual basis to guarantee the recreational facilities. The ruling will protect some $90,000 that has already been collected in taxes and assure several hundred thousand dollars more between now and 1981.

The third case—A District Court of Appeal ruling on assessment of materials imported for manufacturers—easily has the most historical significance. It also had a surprise ending.

THE CONTROVERSY over the amount of imported goods subject to local taxation began seven years ago. Prior to this time the courts had followed the doctrine that only the federal government could levy taxes on imported material in its original wrapping.

In 1959, the U. S. Supreme Court overturned 132 years of unbroken case law. Justice, acting in an Ohio case involving Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., ruled that imported raw materials to be used in manufacturing were subject to local taxation if they were part of "current operational needs." Imports slated for resale retained their traditional tax immunity.

Following the Youngstown decision, assessors generally began imposing assessments on imported goods used in manufacture.

HERE IN Los Angeles we set up industry-by-industry guidelines as to what represented a reasonable interpretation of the "current operational needs" criteria. For one industry a 30-day supply might be realistic — for another a 90-day supply would be assessed.

Meanwhile a flood of lawsuits had been filed as various manufacturers sought to clarify the import question.

At the Superior Court level, three manufacturers argued that they should have to pay taxes only on as much of the imported material as had been removed from their respective warehouses and set aside for production. The judge agreed and ruled that the assessment could be made only on a five-day materials supply.

THE COUNTY appealed to the District Court of Appeals, which went even farther than the Supreme Court in the Youngstown case in its interpretation.

"In our opinion," the District Court said, "Youngstown requires the full inventory in the possession of plaintiffs, committed to the purpose of manufacture on the first Monday in March is subject to tax."

The manufacturers appealed to the State Supreme Court but failed to win a hearing. This means that the District Court ruling — most far-reaching of its kind in the country — will stand unless the U.S. Supreme Court agrees to intervene.

This interpretation was much broader than the import assessment policy adopted by our office. Yet, with the State Supreme Court's refusal to hear the case, it becomes the law of California and we have imposed assessments accordingly.

DISEASES NOTED

Notifiable diseases from the Torrance area for the week ending March 5 included the following reported cases: syphilis, 8; scarlet fever, four; measles, four; and three cases each of hepatitis and epilepsy. Two cases of gonorrhea and one of meningococcal infection and tuberculosis were noted, also.

Ann Landers Says

You Screamers Can Learn From Molly

Dear Ann Landers: My husband received a tape recorder from his boss for Christmas. That gift changed my life.

A few weeks ago my husband asked me to listen to a sales speech he had recorded. When I heard my voice in the background I almost died of embarrassment. I was shrieking at one child and then another throughout the entire tape which lasted for 20 minutes. I scolded, screamed, and shouted orders, like a fishwife.

This was the first time I had heard a recording of my own voice and it was a horrible experience. But it was probably the best thing that could have happened to me.

I vowed then and there to stop yelling at my children. Ann, in just these few months I have discovered that children respond far better to words spoken in a gentle voice than to orders barked out like a drill sergeant.

I hope other mothers will learn something from my experience. — MODULATED MOLLY.

Mr. X is 14 years older than I am and has teenage children. His wife is a boring, self-centered nit-wit who spends her time in beauty shops, at fashion shows and society benefits. Her husband is her cash register and her social front.

Mr. X and I have dinner together twice a week and we take business trips whenever we can. We cannot consider marriage at this time because his boss would surely ask for his resignation. Mr. X means more to me than anything in the world and I refuse to give him up for a woman who hangs on only for the money and appearances sake.

Is there something I can do to bring about the happy ending I so desperately want? — IN THE SHADOWS.

Dear In: Your story is so routine I'm printing it at the risk of boring my readers.

Get a new job and make a new life or before you know it those little crow's feet around your eye's will look like elephant tracks. Your hair will be gray and you'll be spending more and more time in the beauty shop (like the boss's wife). All chances for marriage will have vanished because during the years when you should have been meeting eligible men you were ducking around corners with a married one.

Confidential to NEED A THIRD PARTY'S OPINION: Sorry but I can't sit down and cry with you. When people take the kind of short cuts YOU took and try to get something for nothing they have no right to complain about quality.

Are you at war with your parents? Do they have too much to say in your life? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Suggested by Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send $5c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them in for in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Family Aide Training to Begin Here

Training of family aides for the Southwest area will begin again this month due to the shortage of qualified personnel. This will be the third class for this area.

Students receive instruction from the Red Cross Nursing Service and Los Angeles Public Health Department. Graduates will be certified for private employment wherever the need exists for their specialized services. They will be referred to jobs by the Department of Employment.

Adult persons wishing to do paid community work on a part-time or temporary basis should contact the California State Employment Office, 1016 Sartori Ave., Torrance.

Applications for enrollment in the course are now being accepted. Call 328-2611 and ask for Family Aide.

COUNT MARCO

Soap and Water Are Still Best

I have already discussed the various aspects of creams on the face. Today I will talk about cleansing methods used by great beauties of the world.

I am a firm believer in soap and water as well as creams. Nothing has been found to substitute for a good, old-fashioned cleansing with a gentle soap, followed with a refreshing water bath. Once the skin has been thoroughly cleansed, then by all means apply cleansing creams with moisturizing bases.

If you have a normal skin, use this method, preferred by beautiful Dolores Dana, rising young musical comedy star.

She thoroughly cleanses her face and neck at least twice a day, morning and evening. As an actress she uses more make-up than the average woman, so if it works for her it should do wonders for you.

Always remove your make-up with cream. The make-up comes off more easily without having to stretch the skin. Dolores follows this with a warm-water rinse. She then uses soap lavishly. Rinses with warm water and soaps again, using warm water to rinse.

ALWAYS follow with a cold-water rinse. If you are planning on looking particularly beautiful for that special evening, use ice water or ice cube packs. Never apply the ice directly to the skin.

If you skin is the dry type, like beautiful Arlene Dahl's, try her treatment: Remove make-up with the creaming method. Wash with soap in warm water but rinse with cold water. Be sure to get all the soap off the skin. And don't forget the neck and behind the ears. Follow with a moisturizing cream.

Every woman owes it to herself to spend at least one full hour every day to completely cleanse the skin and treat it with creams and oils.

An oily skin can indeed be a problem. Princess Margaret has trouble with hers because of her indulgence in rich foods. Her method for counteracting the oils is to wash the skin with soap in very warm water.

The Princess leaves the lather on the skin to dry. Then she rinses carefully with cold water. Do not rub the face when drying. Blot instead. Always apply a refreshing astringent.

If you cannot wash your face during the day, carry in your purse those handy packets of astringent washcloths. A light pat and the oils disappear without messing the make-up.

Remember, your neck shows your age long before your face. Treat it with as much care and attention as you do your hands and face. Don't overlook the elbows, knees and feet.

A note of encouragement. Beautiful women aren't born that way. They get that way with a great deal of time and attention to the art of beauty, which is the right of every woman.

The manufacturers appealed to the State Supreme Court but failed to win a hearing. This means that the District Court ruling — most far-reaching of its kind in the country — will stand unless the U.S. Supreme Court agrees to intervene.

This interpretation was much broader than the import assessment policy adopted by our office. Yet, with the State Supreme Court's refusal to hear the case, it becomes the law of California and we have imposed assessments accordingly.

DISEASES NOTED

Notifiable diseases from the Torrance area for the week ending March 5 included the following reported cases: syphilis, 8; scarlet fever, four; measles, four; and three cases each of hepatitis and epilepsy. Two cases of gonorrhea and one of meningococcal infection and tuberculosis were noted, also.
